Word of Death Comes As Body About to Go Before County Grand Jury

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—(UP)—The body of Robert Bursian, 35, described by the district attorney's office as "a most important witness in the Julian Petroleum corporation investigations," was found under a wrecked automobile on the west side today.

The announcement of Bursian's death threw the official circles into a furor of excitement. District Attorney Buren Fitts immediately ordered an investigation of the circumstances in the case.

Bursian, according to Fitts, was a key witness to the various complications of the Italo Petroleum company phase of the Julian tangle.

Investigators reported that Bursian's machine plunged over a 30-foot embankment on Beverly boulevard and Marquis street, crushing him in the wreckage as it struck the bottom.

Fitts ordered his agents to attempt to determine if Bursian had missed a turn in the road near that point or if he had been forced from the highway.

Bursian's home was in Alhambra.

Announcement of Bursian's death came just as Fitts was preparing to go before the grand jury to ask indictments said to be more sensational than any yet returned in the Julian case.

It also came at a time when rumors were prevalent that an attempt would be made to dismiss the grand jury and form another one.

Kaufman To Quit As Assistant To County Attorney

S. B. Kaufman, deputy district attorney, will leave the district attorney's office either May 1 or June 1, for the purpose of forming a partnership for private practice with Franklin G. West, prominent Santa Ana attorney, it was learned today.

Kaufman has been associated with Z. B. West, district attorney, during the past three years and his partnership with F. G. West, brother of the district attorney, is expected to make a strong combination.

District Attorney West said this morning that definite plans had not been made regarding the time that Kaufman would leave the district attorney's office.

CAMPAIGN FUND PROBE STARTS IN ILLINOIS

Primary of Mrs. McCormack First Under Scrutiny of Committee

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(UP)—The campaign chest that carried Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormack to a sensational victory over Senator Deneen, Republican, Illinois, in the recent Republican senatorial primary in Illinois, will be the first one scrutinized by the newly created senatorial campaign and expenditures committee.

The committee headed by Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, will meet tomorrow to plan its investigation of the Illinois contest. Nye was appointed chairman yesterday after Senator Johnson, Republican, California, had refused to serve.

The committee has received several complaints of enormous campaign expenditures in the McCormack-Deneen campaign, the first of the year's primaries.

Unless something develops in the meantime, the next state to come under the committee's scrutiny will be Pennsylvania, home of William S. Vare, who was barred from a seat in the senate because of excessive expenditures in obtaining the Republican nomination in 1928.

In Pennsylvania this year Secretary of Labor Davis is opposing Senator Joseph R. Grundy, who was appointed to the seat left vacant by the senate's refusal of a seat to Vare, for the Republican nomination.

HEAVY RAIN FALLS IN NORTHERN AREA

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—(UP)—The "million dollar" storm which deluged California during the last 48 hours and left ranchers in the valley and cattlemen in the foothills exultant, was moving eastward today, the weather bureau reported.

The rain, which was welcomed by irrigators, fruit growers and cattlemen alike, did considerable damage in the cities. Property damage alone in San Francisco was estimated at $50,000.

The streets were flooded in some sections doing damage to merchant's goods and to automobiles. During the 48 hours rain fell heavily ranging as high as 3.03 inches on the Great Western Power company's watershed.

The deluge was reported to be of inestimable value to farmers of this state as it was the first precipitation since March 14.

PANIC IN THEATER COSTS LIVES OF 17

GIRGENTI, Sicily, April 15.—(UP)—This little city, capital of Girgenti province, was in mourning today for 17 persons crushed or suffocated in a panic in a motion picture theater when a minor blaze of film broke out in the projection room.

Most of those killed in the rush for the narrow exits were children between the ages of 12 and 16. Eleven others were critically injured.

The theater, accommodating about 500, was nearly filled. The fire itself was confined to the operator's cabin like room, where it was quickly controlled.

Funeral expenses will be paid by the community. An inquiry has been started to ascertain responsibility.

Over 500 Hear Legion Head In Address Here

Activities of Veterans' Organization Outlined By O. L. Bodenhamer

POINTING OUT the ideals and standards of the American Legion, together with the plan of activity for the present year, O. L. Bodenhamer, national commander of the Legion, addressed some 500 Legion members and their friends in a huge rally staged at the Santa Ana high school auditorium last night.

Tis talk was a sales talk for the Legion and he sold it much in the same manner he has sold himself to the Legion through a standard of leadership that raised him from a post commander in Arkansas to state commander and thence to national commander.

Speaking of the activities of the American Legion this year, Commander Bodenhamer talked on the Boy Scout movement sponsored by the Legion, the boy's baseball program and other activities which the Legion is now deeply interested.

"This program consists of five definite phases, four of which deal directly with juvenile interests. One is the sponsoring of Boy Scout troops. The others include the promotion of junior baseball, safety first campaigns, the marking of towns for aviation, and the establishment of parks or playgrounds.

"Think of 10,000 Legion posts fostering 10,000 Boy Scout troops, of an average of 20 members each, making a total of 200,000 Boy Scouts, under the leadership of the Legion. A half million boys, playing baseball under the rules and regulations of the Legion's leadership, will be a wonderful contribution to the health and happiness of the future citizens of America. Ten thousand safety first campaigns will be a constructive service to the well being, not only of the children, but of all America. Ten thousand

MARRIAGES ANNULLED

VATICAN CITY, April 15.—(UP)—Marriage contracted under the condition that there shall be no offspring constitutes a motive for annulment in itself, the Rota tribunal has decreed in granting annulment of 20 marriages out of 58 applications entered in 1929. A summary of the Rota's work was issued today. The motive is aggravated by the pledge of voluntary sterility, the Rota contended in its decision.

JAMES S. RICE, PIONEER OF ORANGE COUNTY, DIES FROM SHOCK FOLLOWING OPERATION

J. S. Rice, resident of the Santa Ana-Tustin district for 53 years, passed away at St. Joseph's hospital just before noon today. Death was due to a measure to the shock of an operation a few days ago in amputation of his left leg below the knee.

Funeral services will be held at the Wintler Funeral home Thursday at 2 p. m.

He is survived by two sons, James and Percy, both of Tustin. Prominent for years in social and political circles of Orange county, an hospitable host and good entertainer, James S. Rice numbered his friends in Orange county and Southern California by the scores.

A brother-in-law of James Irvine, father of James Irvine, present owner of the Irvine ranch, Mr. Rice came to this district from Cleveland, Ohio, on January 18, 1877, and at once became identified with

BRITISH LABOR BUDGET BEFORE CRITICS TODAY

Increase in Income Taxes Urged to Meet Deficit in Strong Box

LONDON, April 15.—(UP)—The labor government's momentous budget resolutions, increasing income taxes, raising death duties, and putting a tax on beer, went into the hands of its critics and defenders in the house of commons today.

Debate will continue until adjournment of the house for the Easter recess, Thursday, and will be resumed on April 30.

The average Britisher appears to have received the government's report on the nation's financial condition as an unfortunate situation, but one that must be faced.

The middle and wealthy classes are hardest hit by the taxation scheme and as a result the specter of "flight of capital" from England to escape super-taxes, is raised once more, as it was in the Labor administration of 1924.

Imposition of an additional income tax, and the additional taxes on land are bound to be unpopular, but against this, the government sets forth the claim that these taxes fall upon the classes of taxpayers most capable of paying.

Comment of London's morning newspapers was generally favorable, although the conservative publications expressed the fear that increased unemployment would result from the heavy taxes on capital and industry.

Snowden's proposed beer tax of a penny (two cents) a gallon will cost the brewers about $15,000,000 annually, the Brewers' society announced officially last night. The cost, Snowden said, would not fall upon the consumers.

TARDIEU RECEIVES CONFIDENCE VOTE

PARIS, April 15.—(UP)—The chamber of deputies gave Premier Andre Tardieu's cabinet a vote of confidence today by a majority of 319 to 260.

The vote of confidence was taken on a motion of Deputy Leo Bouysyon, a Radical Socialist, demanding an automatic increase in pensions for retired officials.

The city council will meet the night of April 23 to canvass the vote. The newly elected councilmen will probably take their seats that night, but their term of office for which they receive the salary of $50 a month will start May 1. Both of the new councilmen are real estate brokers. Both are old-time residents here and have been in politics and in civic affairs for many years. Both were strong sup-

Elections Are Held In Sixth Class Cities

Two of Three Councilmen Up for Election in Seal Beach Beaten

ONE OF THE quietest city elections in the history of Orange county was held yesterday, with few upsets resulting. Two cities, Tustin and La Habra, approved first bond issues, while a third, Laguna Beach, defeated a $20,000 project.

Two of the three city councilmen up for re-election at Seal Beach were defeated in the election yesterday. They were R. E. Dole, who received 238 votes, and J. R. John, who secured 240 votes. C. O. Wheat, an incumbent, was re-elected, netting 252 votes. The other two successful candidates were J. C. Putnam, 246, and F. L. Wilson, 257.

Seal Beach voted to give each councilman $10 per month and also approved the plan whereby the city do its own assessing and collecting of taxes.

La Habra approved its $15,000 fire bond project by a vote of six to one, the vote being 162, yes, and 27, no. The money will be used for the purchase of ground, the erection of a suitable building and the purchase of a fire engine.

The two candidates for city council, H. A. Randall and John T. Knudson, were unopposed, receiving 165 and 160 votes, respectively. City Clerk A. C. Early and City Treasurer, Louis Muchow, unopposed, received 173 and 167 votes, respectively.

Despite the fact San Clemente's three candidates for the city council were without opposition, better than 50 per cent vote was recorded. Mayor Murphy received 132 votes, Ole Hanson Jr., 129, and Hal Warner, 130. They were elected for four-year terms.

Write-in candidates were, Mrs. Lytton Thomas, 2; Jimmy Bennett, 1; Bert Latham, 1; W. Starr, 1.

Huntington Beach

E. B. Stevens and Chris H. King were elected to the Huntington Beach city council here, defeating O. Ray Harris and J. W. Mitchell, incumbents. The total vote was Stevens, 466; King, 390; Harris, 372; Mitchell, 308. The race between King and Harris was close, King winning by the narrow margin of 18 votes. The question of restricting a portion of the city against oil drilling was defeated. A total of 491 votes was cast against the measure and 294 in favor of it. The total vote as determined by the vote on restrictions was 785. The total registration was a little over 1100.

The city council will meet the night of April 23 to canvass the vote. The newly elected councilmen will probably take their seats that night, but their term of office for which they receive the salary of $50 a month will start May 1. SON OF ZANE GREY MARRIES IN NEVADA

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 15.—(UP)—Romer Grey, 22, son of Zane Grey, well known novelist, and Dorothy Olsen, 19-year-old co-ed, disposed of plans for several pre-nuptial affairs in their honor, by eloping.

Engagement of the couple was announced a week ago in Glendale, Calif., by the girl's parents. The couple cut short plans for an elaborate wedding, however, by having a quiet ceremony here Sunday.

Grey recently left school to devote all his time to writing.

HOOVER PLEADS FOR U. S. ENTER WORLD COURT

Speech Before D. A. R. Expected to Increase Opposition in Senate

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(UP)—President Hoover's plea for the World Court, contained in an address before the Daughters of the American Revolution, was expected today to invigorate senate opposition to American adherence.

Mr. Hoover spoke to the D. A. R. congress last night in Constitution hall. He suffered from a cold and Mrs. Hoover was so ill with the same malady she was unable to accompany him.

The address gave a panoramic view of efforts to prevent war, of which the president said naval or arms treaties, arbitration treaties, the World Court, the Kellogg pact and other methods of international action were parts.

He predicted without qualification the United States would join the court, but recognized disagreement regarding terms of adherence, problems arising from that disagreement, he believes, will be solved.

The speech was a summons to membership in the court which, Mr. Hoover said, had been accepted by 90 per cent of the civilized peoples of the world. No other court, he said, is practicable.

His address came within a week of the Illinois primaries in which Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormack defeated Senator Deneen for the Republican nomination for the senate in a campaign in which the only formal issue appeared to be the World Court. Mrs. McCormack opposed American adherence.

The president spoke to 6000 women on most of whom are influential in their respective communities. Observers remarked today that the speech emphasized the World Court issue along with the London naval treaty and that if last night's audience went home convinced the president's positions were correct, he would have gained vastly useful support for his two major foreign problems—senate ratification of the London treaty and approval of World Court membership.

Difficulties in applying the Kellogg pact to the Chinese-Russian dispute last year showed, Mr. Hoover said, "the clear need for some method of mobilization of public opinion against violation."

Mr. Hoover emphasized America's duty to take part in securing world peace but said this duty could not be performed without maintaining the fullest independence.

"The nations of Europe," he said, "surrounded as they are by dangers and problems of which we in the western hemisphere have but little appreciation, and beset by inherited fears, hold to the view that aside from the World Court the pacific settlement of controversies and the maintenance of

SOCIAL STANDING SAME AS BEFORE PUBLICATION OF ARTICLES, HE ADMITS

Subjected To Severe Cross Examination—Says Health Impaired But Didn't Call In Physician

INTERPRETER STILL ON STAND

CHARLES CARRILLO was unable to tie up the publication of articles in the Register, which he used as basis for a libel suit, with any specific loss of financial income during the course of the trial this morning. He was also forced, under the searching cross-examination conducted by W. J. Clark, chief defense counsel, to make several admissions that materially weakened his case.

In some of the most important phases of the case he admitted that he could point to no specific instance where he had suffered financial loss as the result of the publication of the articles complained of; that he had received fees from certain parties for drivers temporary permits; that he conducted the examinations in classes, asking questions of the applicants collectively and individually; that his child still went to the same school and had the same playmates; that he and his wife still visited in the same homes as they did before the publication of the articles; that he had not consulted a physician with reference to his health; that he had been in his office every day conducting business and that he drew his salary regularly.

The attorneys for Carrillo again attempted to introduce evidence relative to an alleged telephone call to the Register office that was tried yesterday afternoon, but were balked by the objections of Attorney Clark, which were consistently sustained by Judge Ruben S. Schmidt, of Los Angeles, who is on the bench in the Orange county superior court for the duration of this trial. They also attempted to introduce testimony relative to the duties Carrillo was supposed to perform in his office as county court interpreter, so far as to put former members of the board of supervisors, T. B. Talbert and H. J. Wasson, on the stand, but the court refused to permit Talbert to testify on these matters after objection by Clark, and Wasson stated that the matter was determined before he became a member of the board.

Carrillo told the court while he was on the stand that his income from private sources while he was in the county employ ran from $75 to $85 per month prior to the publication of the articles and was now about $10 to $15 per month. When asked if the loss was caused by publication of the articles in question, he said:

"I have not been refused membership in any organization since the publications and that he still moved among the same circle of friends.

He said his financial loss consisted in a drop from $75 a month to $10 or $15 a month, received from private individuals as fees for his services. He asserted that this drop was not due entirely to the fact that the rush of applications for drivers' licenses was past.

towns, marked for fliers, will be a great contribution to the advancement of aviation in America. Ten thousand playgrounds for America's children will be a real service to American youth.

Future Promising
"A nation is just as great as are its men, and a nation's future is just as promising as are its boys. The boys of today will be the men of tomorrow, and it is to them we must hand the reins of government, and truth the destiny of our people. Accordingly, it behooves us to bend our every effort to the one purpose that the boys of today shall develop into the best possible men of tomorrow. It is our responsibility today to teach them the duties and obligations of citizenship.

800,000 Members
"The Legion is the largest and most powerful veterans' organization in the history of the world, being composed of 800,000 citizens who proved their loyalty to the United States in the greatest emergency which has ever confronted this government. It's span of life is definitely limited by the lives of its members. It has set itself to do a certain job; first, to see that our disabled men and their dependents are justly treated, and second, to build and promote good citizenship and good government.

"The Legion is fostering the junior baseball movement, not so much to train and to develop baseball players, as to teach and train American boys in some of the lessons of good citizenship. It is generally conceded that good citizenship can be taught through the medium of good sportsmanship. The good sportsman, the man who can win with a smile and without criticizing the other fellow, as a rule, makes a good citizen. On the baseball diamonds, these boys have their attention taken from idleness and unwholesome associations, and they are taught to play the game hard but squarely, and to develop initiative, intelligence and self-reliance. These boys acquire the qualities essential to good citizenship on the playground. They become responsive and responsible.

Boosts Boy Scout
"The Legion realizes that in the Boy Scout movement there is an excellent avenue for reaching the boys and teaching them the principles of Americanism, clean living and good citizenship. The Legion is greatly concerned in seeing that the citizens of tomorrow not only know, but that they understand, and are willing to accept, the duties and responsibilities of citizenship, which will fall upon them in due course of time. It is this fundamental idea which underlies the Legion's earnest support of the Boy Scout work.

"The day is not far distant when the members of the Legion will have to relinquish their leadership, and their places of responsibility to younger hands. The Legion has no child organization, as such, to which the Legion ideals can be delivered and perpetuated throughout the years. It must, therefore, sell its ideals and its high purposes to the youth of our land with the hope that they shall be perpetuated in the lives and characters of the men who follow in our footsteps. I know of no organization of boys in America which is more adapted tion, objection was raised and he was not permitted to answer. He refused to admit that this loss was due in large measure to the fact that issuing of drivers' temporary permits had dropped off since that time when the law was becoming effective relative to new licenses. He denied that he had ever sold or attempted to sell his influence with county peace officers or courts or that on October 3 he had in his possession a pad of driver's permits, or that he sold them.

Called No Doctor
The plaintiff told the court that since the publication of the articles he had suffered great mental anguish, became very nervous and could not sleep at night and that he had fallen off in weight from 170 pounds to 158 pounds. He later admitted under the questioning of Attorney Clark that his weight was now 163 pounds and that he had not consulted a physician relative to his condition. He stated that he did not like to read the Register after the articles began to appear and the well-filled court room enjoyed a hearty laugh when Clark asked him if this was because he was afraid he would see more affidavits concerning his conduct therein.

Carrillo was able to recall only one person who had refused to speak to him since the publication of the articles, whom he stated was "Doc" Johnson. It was brought out that this man was the husband of one of the witnesses who testified against Carrillo at the supervisors' hearing.

Clark brought out in his questioning the fact that Carrillo did not know J. F. Burke, had never had a conversation with him prior to filing the charges, had never had any business transactions with him and had never been on opposing factions in any social or business transactions.

The court today on the motion of Attorney Clark admitted to the record affidavits that were filed by the Register to support their charges, and on the motion of W. M. Menton, chief counsel for the plaintiff, admitted the transcript of the testimony at the supervisors' hearing.

Hearst in Answers
Names of numerous Mexicans who had made affidavits supporting the charges of the Register were mentioned in the course of the cross examination, including Lorenzo Terran, Odelon Rivera, Mrs. Romo, Juan Becera, Lino Parra, Lorenzo Hinojosa, Mrs. Torres, Manuel Echavarria, Sabina Espinoza, Antonio Sanchez, Ignacio Belmontes, and others.

Carrillo was questioned as to receiving money from many of these persons in connection with the idealism of the Legion than is the Boy Scout.

Commander Bodenhamer was introduced to Santa Ana by Clarence Kincaid, California State Commander, of Hollywood.

issuance of drivers permits and with others in connection with allegations of receiving money for aiding in securing permits to visit persons in jail and assisting in getting a marriage license. During much of this questioning, which Carrillo told the court was for the purpose of determining the truth of the answers given to questions asked by Attorney Menton yesterday as to the seven charges, placed against Carrillo by the Register before the supervisors, the interpreter was hesitant in answering and his recollection was hazy.

Carrillo also admitted to Clark that he had not been refused membership in any lodge or club as a result of the publication of the articles and that he had not been expelled from any as a consequence.

Clark also brought out the fact that Carrillo was loath to have the first article appear concerning the fact that he was making charges for assisting in securing drivers' permits.

It was learned today that the office of District Attorney Z. B. West did not refuse to give the affidavits formerly presented to the supervisors to attorneys for the defense, as reported yesterday, but that they said they preferred to have a court order in the matter to keep the records clear.

The interpreter was still on the stand at noon when the regular recess was taken, but the defense had stated that their cross examination was completed. Carrillo occupied the stand during the entire morning, with the exception of short periods when Talbert and Wasson were called out of order to give their testimony that they might be excused.

Prosecution Hit
Rulings from the bench during the course of the trial yesterday afternoon while the complaining witness, Carrillo, was on the stand attempting to lay the foundation for his claim for damages, blasted the prosecution and opened the way, it was believed by many, for the dismissal of at least two of the four causes of action as set forth in the complaint. These are the second and third, which were based on articles appearing in the Register September 11 and September 29.

The court had previously suggested that each cause of action be tried individually and Chief Counsel Menton for the plaintiff dropped the introduction of testimony on the second cause like a hot potato after the bench shut him off in an attempt to get evidence on this cause before the court. The rebuff was injected by the court of its own volition when Menton asked Carrillo, after referring to the second article complained of in the pleadings, if he ever attempted to intimidate a Mexican. The court here interposed, stating that the question was out of order and that the matter involved here was whether such evidence was presented to the board of supervisors warranting the publication of such an article. The attempt by Menton, during testimony on the first cause, to get evidence before the court in connection with an alleged phone call by Carrillo to the Register office, was thwarted by objections interposed by W. J. Clark, chief counsel for the defense, which were consistently sustained by the court.

The third cause of action, according to the complaint, is based on an article entitled "Here Are the Facts," which appeared on September 29 following the hearing before the board of supervisors, which at one time during the course of the trial yesterday, the court referred to as the "so-called investigation on hearing." This article was in three divisions, headed "Testimony Denied by No One," "Testimony Denied Only by Carrillo" and "Testimony Denied by Carrillo and Others." When Menton undertook to question Carrillo as to whether or not he had done the things set forth in the article, Judge Schmidt interposed and asserted that the matter to be determined here was whether or not the report of the investigation as carried in the paper was true and if this was a fair statement as to what took place at the hearing. The court pointed out that the facts referred to was certain testimony denied by no one, other testimony denied by Carrillo only and other testimony denied by Carrillo and others. He also declared that it was obvious that one cannot take out a portion of a publication and have it stand as the whole and that therefore he would limit the examination to the entire article as introduced rather than to a certain portion of it as contained in the complaint.

Menton Objects
Menton then made the objection that his client was not given an opportunity at the hearing to deny all these things, but it will be remembered that at the hearing before the supervisors Menton opened the case for his client with the statement that if it were a case before a regular court he would move for a non-suit without putting on any testimony, but that since it was not, he would put on some testimony.

Menton asked Carrillo if he were given an opportunity to deny these matters when he was before the board, but the court interposed with the statement that this was not pertinent to this cause of action. He also declared that if the report in the paper referred to was not correctly stated, it may be libel, but if it is correctly stated he did not see how it could be libel.

The portion of the article referred to follows:
"Testimony Denied by No One
1. That Jose Becera was besought by Carrillo for money for getting him out of jail, and that Becera did pay him; that Carrillo became more and that Becera reported it to the district attorney.

"2. That Carrillo took a fee of $2.00 from one Mexican to visit another in jail, a privilege which may be granted, but is not for sale.
"3. That temporary permits to drive automobiles have been issued by Carrillo, the permits being signed by a traffic officer alleging that the traffic officer had given the examination when it was not true, and for this Carrillo took money from the Mexicans. (Captain Henry Meehan, of the traffic squad, testified that he had given Carrillo permission to issue licenses in this manner, but Captain Meehan on no other man has authority to allow another man to issue a paper which itself is a lie.)

"4. That Carrillo asked Mrs. Olive Johnson, of Delhi, if she knew people owning stills there, and offered to split fifty-fifty with her.

"5. That Carrillo tried to collect money from one Juan Pena for claiming to have 'assisted' him to get out of jail, writing him a letter. That Juan Pena protested and started trouble and that Carrillo warned Pena to leave him alone. (Carrillo stated that Pena had offered to pay him the money and that when Pena did not pay it he wrote Pena asking him if he had forgotten his promise. Carrillo said he did not demand the money but said he and Pena made an agreement whereby Pena was to pay him little by little.)

"6. That Carrillo accepted $5.00 for attempting to patch up a marital difficulty.

"7. That Carrillo took the hand of an illegitimate Mexican woman and forced her to sign a paper that she did not know the character of. "Testimony Denied Only by Carrillo
"1. That Carrillo took $5.00 for each of two letters written by Carrillo for the Mexicans purporting to be means to pass them into the United States, which were worthless. "Testimony Denied by Carrillo and Others

"1. That Carrillo abused another interpreter and called a woman defendant a vile name.

"2. That Carrillo got $50 which was supposed to go to an attorney, the money having been raised by friends of one Odilon Rivera for his defense.

"3. That intimidation was exercised on witnesses subpoenaed for the hearing.

"4. That Carrillo took $2.00 for interpreting for the making of a marriage license application. The session yesterday afternoon did not convene until 4:15 o'clock, the court being occupied in the interim in reading the numerous exhibits that had been introduced by the plaintiff during the morning session. Carrillo was the first witness and on the stand told of his work as court interpreter and his relations with county officials, which he said had always been very congenial. He also told of being questioned by Register representatives relating to making a made for assisting Mexicans obtain drivers' licenses and attempted to tell of a phone call to the paper after the interview. He denied all of the seven charges made against him by the Register and submitted to the supervisors, which brought on the hearing before that body.

Clare led in two of the city's five polls and Garfield in three. Garfield led the poll with a total vote of $50, which was a surprise to some political observers. Claire's vote was 559, while Smith polled 203. Ballot after ballot read Claire and Garfield.

Laguna Beach
C. R. Clapp, incumbent, James E. Bishop and Maurice McMillan, running together on a ticket opposed to the Laguna Beach administration, triumphed in yesterday's voting against G. E. Thompson. The latter made a campaign on his own account, though friends were active. The project of bonding the city for $20,000 to purchase ground and erect a fire station failed, as did the proposition to pay councilmen $20 a month, with $40 for the mayor. The count of ballots showed while a write-in was made for Albert Hadley.

The decisive vote on the fire bonds will go to the fire house site, fire house and strictly modern equipment, including 1000 feet of hose and truck and ladder equipment.

A. C. Schalles was elected Monday to the position of Placentia city councilman, a position to which he was appointed at the resignation of Harry Easton, and Andrew Ipsen, E. A. Long, and C. C. Curtis were re-elected.

O. C. Christensen appeared as the "dark horse," receiving 24 votes for long term and three for short term. M. D. Clay received 35 votes; Curtis, 80; Ipsen, 78; Long, 75; Schalles, 78; Tom Pickering, 1.

Election returns from Brea showed W. C. Baldwin, O. S. Close and F. J. Schweitzer elected to the city council at Brea. Schweitzer and O. R. Meissner were two of the three councilmen whose terms had expired.

Votes cast were, Baldwin, 220; Close, 219; Schweitzer, 129; Meissner, 125; J. P. Classen, 90; James Groves, 55.

Votes were cast on an issue to pay the councilmen $20 a month each for their services. There were 133 votes for and 109 against. As it required a two-thirds majority to pass, the issue was lost.

Newport Beach
A. J. Garfield, Balboa real estate man, and Lloyd Claire, incumbent councilman and Newport merchant, are the two new councilmen-elect for the city of Newport Beach, being elected for four-year terms in yesterday's election, the quietest here in many a year. One other candidate was in the field, Frank L. Smith, Balboa hardware merchant. Mark Johnson, Paul Ellisworth and Dr. Hermann Hilmer are the three hold-over councilmen.

Claire led in two of the city's five polls and Garfield in three. Garfield led the poll with a total vote of $50, which was a surprise to some political observers. Claire's vote was 559, while Smith polled 203. Ballot after ballot read Claire and Garfield.

Laguna Beach
C. R. Clapp, incumbent, James E. Bishop and Maurice McMillan, running together on a ticket opposed to the Laguna Beach administration, triumphed in yesterday's voting against G. E. Thompson. The latter made a campaign on his own account, though friends were active. The project of bonding the city for $20,000 to purchase ground and erect a fire station failed, as did the proposition to pay councilmen $20 a month, with $40 for the mayor. The count of ballots showed Bishop high with 582, McMillan second with 563, Clapp third with 525. Thompson unsuccessful with 328. Three places were to be filled on the council. R. D. Lipincott and Dr. B. B. Mason, whose terms expire, declined to run again.

The three successful candidates pledged themselves to a change in the engineering department, generally taken to mean ousting A. J. Stork and to mean placing the engineer on salary instead of contract. It is expected that this will be one of the first acts attempted by the new members, though it is pointed out that the engineer's contract has nearly a year yet to run.

Ben F. Dierker, with 1451 votes, and Clyde Watson, with 1387 votes, were elected to the Orange council. They defeated V. A. Wood, incumbent, and A. G. Parsons, the last two receiving 877 and 883 votes, respectively.

Mrs. Myrtle Bay, with 1488 votes, was re-elected city treasurer over Mrs. Pearl Inge, who had 774 votes.

The city managership form of government was retained in Anaheim at the municipal election held yesterday by a majority of 2060 votes. Elected were Fred H. Koessel with a total of 1957 votes; Leo J. Sheridan, 1939; M. W. Martnet Jr., 1906; a total of 5802. Other candidates were W. P. Quanton, 1262; Fred H. Garrison, 1246, and George W. Bruns, 1233, totaling 3741 votes as against 5802 for the winners.

ACCIDENT VERDICT RETURNED BY JURY

A verdict of accidental death was rendered by a coroner's jury in the death of Mrs. Virginia La Verne, 30, of Los Angeles, who was fatally injured early Sunday morning when the automobile in which she was riding failed to make a curve and went over an embankment.

Albert LaVerne, husband of the dead woman, who was taken to the San Clemente hospital suffering with a fractured skull and a broken jaw, is recovering and will be able to leave the hospital in two weeks, it was said today.

The inquest was held at the Divel funeral parlors in San Clemente Monday afternoon.

JAMES S. RICE PIONEER DIES THIS MORNING

1886 and 1887 Mr. Rice sold off a portion of his 50 acre tract at figures running as high as $4000 an acre.

Mr. Rice had been a widower since 1919. Mrs. Rice was a talented woman and a musician. Her fine voice won for her distinction at many of the big affairs of Southern California, and she always was happy to make contributions to programs arranged for benefits of individuals or organizations. The gracious hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Rice made their home at Tustin the social center of a large circle of friends, among them the late Madame Modjeska, world renowned actress.

Mr. Rice was born at Cleveland, Ohio, October 31, 1846, and was a graduate of the schools of that city, and Western Reserve college at Hudson, Ohio. He completed a classical course in anticipation of following the profession of his father, lawyer. He later changed his plans and entered the house furnishing business at Cleveland with his brother. He had been in that line for eleven years when he decided to come here to establish his home.

Proud Mother!

Emil Frank, 639 So. Grand Ave., Los Angeles, Cal., is the picture of health. No wonder his mother says: "I'm proud as can be of my little boy. He's always bright, active, robust."

"I give California Pig Syrup a lot of credit for his wonderful condition. I have used it with him for every little upset or cold. It always has him back to normal in a few hours."

When a child shows, by bad breath, coated tongue, biliousness or feverishness, the little bowels are clogged, you know the system needs a prompt cleansing.

California Pig Syrup does the work quickly and gently. In addition, it helps tone and strengthen weak bowels and stomach. So it gives lasting help.

The word California marks true genuine; the pure vegetable product loved by children and pronounced safe and effective by doctors.—Adv.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

You say you "cannot understand," you "cannot seem to think," your "mind keeps going round and round in a circle and getting nowhere." Have you seen a broken-hearted child sobbing frantically in its mother's arms? The wise and understanding mother said almost nothing to the child. She held her child close. Gradually the sobs ceased, the tension disappeared and the child rested in perfect confidence and peace upon its mother's breast. Try being still with your anguish pressed close to the heart of God. Rest in His presence. He knows how your heart aches. Cease for a while your endeavor to look ahead. Just trust Him to care for you, to guide and to comfort you. Strength will come.

INVESTIGATORS RUNNING DOWN NUMBER CLEWS

Still unconscious at times from a heavy blow suffered at 3:30 Sunday morning when attacked by an unknown assailant, Harold Graham, 33, of 303 Thirty-second street, Newport Beach, was unable today to tell officers who struck him. Graham was hit on the head with a shovel while digging for clams in Newport bay. The attacker knocked him into the water and then pulled him out, leaving him unconscious on the sand. For a short time yesterday, while A. L. Steward, deputy sheriff, and Chief Hodgkinson, of Newport Beach, were at his bedside, Graham rallied and, when asked who struck him, named John Montgomery, owner of the Oklahoma cafe, in Westminster, according to a report at the sheriff's office. Montgomery was taken into custody by the officers and taken to the county hospital where he faced Graham. However, when asked, "Is this the man who struck you?" Graham replied that he was not. Montgomery was released. "We still are working on a number of clues, but we have nothing definite," Chief Hodgkinson said today. That Graham and his assailant were fighting over a clam digging location is the theory held by officers. Hospital attendants said that Graham's condition was better today, although still serious. He is suffering from a fracture of the skull.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS MERGER APPROVED

Five bids, submitted to the board of supervisors today for installation of an amplifying system for the new pavilion in the county park, varied from $2450 to $9500. The bids were taken under advisement. The petition filed by residents of the Yorba Linda grammar school district for annexation to the Placentia union grammar school district was granted by the board. Today was set as the date for hearing of protests against the annexation, but none was filed. The clerk was directed to advertise bonds of the La Habra school district for sale, with 11 a. m., May 13, as the time for opening bids. A salary of $50 a month was voted Nat H. Neft as compensation for extra work he will have to perform as engineer for the county planning commission.

Women Released Men Are Fined As 'Party' Aftermath

Four men, arrested early Sunday morning, when officers raided an alleged "wild party" on Balboa island, were fined $50 each in the Newport Beach police court yesterday on charges of disturbing the peace. The men were Monty Montagne, 22, Hollywood; T. W. Kober, 23; David Riskow, and Gene Street, the latter three of Glendale. Two women, arrested at the same time and held in jail here overnight, Mrs. Ruby Allison, 24, and Charlotte Kent, 19, both of Glendale, were dismissed.

Court Notes

Two men paid fines totaling $45 in police court yesterday on charges of being drunk. They were P. J. Vickroy, $15, and Louis Carasosa, $30. Both were arrested over the week end by Santa Ana police officers.

Charged with parking his automobile in two stalls on a city street, W. Thompson, Santa Ana, was fined $2 in police court yesterday.

Albert Blower, Santa Ana, arrested on a charge of speeding at an intersection, was given a $20 fine in city court yesterday.

The end of colonization, it is estimated, will be reached in about 200 years.

Transportation will be furnished.

D. K. Hammond, principal of the Santa Ana high school; H. G. Nelson, principal of the Julia La Thorp junior high school; and Lyle Mitchell, principal of the Frances Willard junior high school, were attending the convention of secondary school principals, in session today in San Diego. Hammond planned to remain in San Diego until Thursday. Nelson was accompanied by his brother, who is the principal of a secondary school in the northern part of the state.

A. N. Symmes, former owner and president of the Orange County Business college, has been employed as field manager by the Business Institute and Secretarial school, 415 North Sycamore street. Symmes is well known in business school circles, having spent over 25 years as teacher, manager and proprietor. He is a graduate of Lebanon, O., university and Bryant and Stratton Business college, in Louisville, Ky., and for four years remained in that institution as instructor. He also is a graduate of the Zanerian Art college, Columbus, O., where he specialized in penmanship and engraving.

The county-wide committee appointed by the board of supervisors to appraise the value of the property between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach, offered as a site for a state park, may be called together in a few days, according to P. E. Carter, a member of the committee. The committee said that he understood one more man was to be named and that when the appointment is made the committee would be called together and immediately would start investigations necessary to form an opinion as to the value of the property.

Good Friday services will be held in St. Peter's Lutheran church at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Friday. The morning service will be in German. At 7:30 p. m. Saturday there will be a special service preparatory to Holy Communion on Easter morning. The pastor will preach at all services.

The condition of A. R. Culver, of Sanguis, who has been ill in the Santa Ana Valley hospital for the last several weeks, was greatly improved today.

Dr. G. A. Shank, of Huntington Beach, a patient in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, reported improved today.

F. E. Wilson, Orange real estate broker, who underwent an operation in the Santa Ana Valley hospital yesterday, was reported on the road to recovery today.

Virginia Scott, 11, of 1529 East First street, underwent a minor operation in the Santa Ana Valley hospital this morning.

Trade For Wetzel Ires Star Hurley

HOLLYWOOD, April 15.—The proposal of Tom Turner, manager of the Portland ball club, to trade Fred Orman, southpaw pitcher, to Hollywood, brought a holl from "Buz" Witzel, right-hander involved in the bargaining, Wetzel, who once played with Portland, said he would quit baseball before returning to the Ducks.

Police News

Charged with being drunk, John Noel, 31, was arrested in the Pacific Electric railway station, on East Fourth street, last night, by Bert Dawson, of the merchant patrol, who turned him over to the city police department. The man was lodged in the county jail.

Police were called to 617 South Parton street at 9 o'clock last night to search for a prowler, but none was found.

To Let Contract Soon For Work On New Ortega Road

The joint highway district created for the purpose of building the Ortega highway across the mountains from Capistrano to Elsinore will let a contract soon after July 1 for construction work on the road to the amount of $225,000, according to a statement made today by George Jeffrey, county supervisor, representing this county in the preliminaries.

A telegram just received from the secretary of state advised Jeffrey that the number 15 had been assigned as the number of the district, and the supervisor pointed out that this concluded all steps in completion of the district.

The supervisor said that the work upon which bids will be asked will be from the point on the route to which Orange county has built. The district proposes completion of the highway in four years.

ANNOUNCE PROGRAM FOR BREAKFASTERS

A splendid program has been arranged for the Thursday morning breakfast club meeting in St. Ann's Inn, according to Stanley Clem, chairman, and Isadore Fields and Dr. E. D. Kilbourne, assistants. Miss Lorraine Turk, a talented young dancer, will be seen in a "Special Number," with her mother, Mrs. A. Turk, at the piano. Mrs. Golden Weston, director of adult education in the Santa Ana schools, will bring a five-minute talk to the members on the eight courses of adult training which will commence after Easter.

An old-time orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Charles Hurd, will play and Miss Gloria Clem, another talented dancer, will do a special acrobatic dance for the boys.

TWO HELD FOR QUIZ IN LA HABRA FIGHT

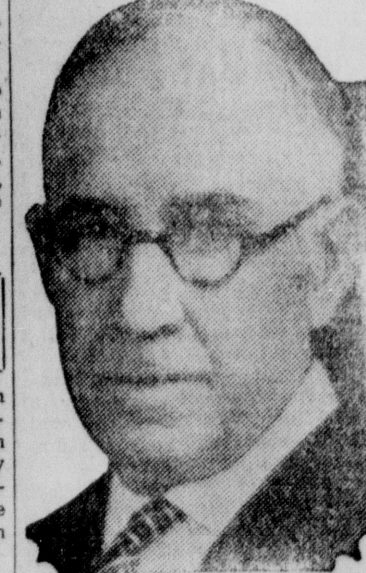

With two men in the county jail, booked for investigation, sheriff officers continued today to probe the beating and shooting of Salecido Sota, 42, La Habra Mexican, who engaged in a fight in the front yard of his home Saturday night. Sota is in the county hospital, suffering from loss of blood from a wound made by a bullet, which struck him in the arm, and from a terrific beating over the head with a pick handle, officers said. Juan Reyes, 42, and Carlos Ruiz, 24, of La Habra, are the Mexicans being held, but sheriff's officers said that they were not satisfied with the information concerning the fight which they had at this time. They intimated other arrests would follow.

Sande Returns To Saddle and Loses

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 15.—Earl Sande, former king of American jockeys, returned to the saddle yesterday and finished fifth in a 7-horse race. He rode Frank Hayes' Rockslide, the first mount he had taken since the fall of 1928.

LOST HOPE OF GETTING WELL

"I had given up hope of ever seeing a well day again until I started Sargon and then everything changed for me."

JOHN R. LOWE

"I was terribly nervous, couldn't half sleep, suffered with bilious spells, headaches and indigestion and my appetite was so poor I'd often leave the table without eating a bite. I steadily lost weight and strength. Four bottles of Sargon restored my lost weight, my strength and energy are back and I walk for miles without getting tired. My appetite is so good I can hardly wait from one meal to the next and my digestion is perfect. Sargon Pills stimulated my liver and regulated me perfectly." —John R. Lowe, 1708 W. CARRILLO—Some, yes, sir.
MENTON—You have also a social acquaintance in addition to that throughout the county?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—What have been your relations with the officials of Orange county with whom you have come in contact in the discharge of your duty as court interpreter?
CARRILLO—Very congenial.
MENTON—Ever had any difficulty with any of them?
CARRILLO—None.
MENTON—Have you always responded to any call upon your time when you were required to act as court interpreter for any of the county officials?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—You have acted as court interpreter for the civil as well as in criminal cases, have you?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—You received for your services a stated salary during a portion of your time, did you, Mr. Carrillo?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—During what portion of the time that you have been employed as court interpreter have you received a salary?
CARRILLO—I believe my salary started in 1919 and continued until about the middle part of October, 1929.
MENTON—That was when the new law became effective?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—Prior to 1919 how were you employed?
CARRILLO—By the case.
MENTON—On the fee basis?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—From whom did you receive compensation for your work as interpreter in criminal cases?
CARRILLO—County.
MENTON—From whom did you receive compensation for your work as interpreter in civil actions?
CARRILLO—From the parties concerned.
MENTON—Litigants in action?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—Those fees were allowed and fixed by the court in the trial of the action were they?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—A number of those were a charge against the county?
CARRILLO—No, sir.
MENTON—In your services as interpreter you acted for the district attorney's and sheriff's offices did you, and for other offices of the county?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
JUDGE—You mean by that question he was required to help the district attorney and the sheriff's office in the matter of language interpretation?
MENTON—It wasn't intended that—not required to but that he did do that. Does that answer the court's question?
MENTON—You did do that, did you?
CARRILLO—Yes.
MENTON—When were you first informed of the investigation that was being conducted with regard to your conduct as interpreter?
CARRILLO—May I—
MENTON—Tell me as nearly as you can when you first knew of it?
CARRILLO—The beginning?
MENTON—Yes, sir.
CARRILLO—I think the morning of the first publication.
MENTON—And what date was the first publication?
CARRILLO—About the latter part of August.
JUDGE—You express according to your best recollection the first time you were aware of it. Was that the publication of the 30th of August referred to?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—By whom were you informed on that day that a story was to be published?
CARRILLO—By Mr. Neff.
MENTON—Who is Mr. Neff?
CARRILLO—He is employed by the Register.
MENTON—Was at that time, was he?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—Did you know him prior to that time?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—Where did you see him on that day?
CARRILLO—Down in my office.
MENTON—What time of the day as you recall?
CARRILLO—About the middle of the morning.
MENTON—Did you have any conversation with him on that day?
CARRILLO—Yes.
MENTON—Anyone else present at the time?
CARRILLO—Not when he first spoke to me.
MENTON—Was there anyone else present during any of the conversation you had with him?
CARRILLO—I think Mr. Dowden.
MENTON—Who was Mr. Dowden?
CARRILLO—He was employed by the Register.
MENTON—Had you known Mr. Dowden prior to that time?
CARRILLO—No, sir.
MENTON—How was Mr. Dowden dressed on that occasion?
CARRILLO—In overalls, blue shirt—looked like a farmer to me.
MENTON—And how soon after that did you learn who Mr. Dowden was?
CARRILLO—He came in first.
MENTON—Did you talk with him before Mr. Neff came in?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—Did he discuss with you anything about the matter that was to be published in the newspaper?
CARRILLO—No, sir.
MENTON—Was there anyone present besides yourself and Mr. Dowden when he first came in?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—Who?
CARRILLO—A young lady and three men—Mexicans.
MENTON—Now was this on the same day that you say you had the conversation with Mr. Neff?
CARRILLO—The same morning.
MENTON—What conversation did you have with Mr. Dowden?
CARRILLO—None. He only—I saw him come in and asked him if he wanted anything and he said, "I am waiting for a party that wants to take an examination and I told him to sit down and he did."
MENTON—Examination for a motor vehicle driver's license?
CARRILLO—Yes, an automobile driver's license.
MENTON—Referring now to the conversation with Mr. Neff, was Mr. Dowden present then when you had the conversation with him?
CARRILLO—No, sir. He wasn't. He was around there, but not nearby.
MENTON—What conversation did you have with Mr. Neff?
CARRILLO—Mr. Neff asked me about the operator's licenses and—
MENTON—What did he say?
CARRILLO—Are you charging them anything for the operator's licenses? I said yes, and he asked me how much. I told him I was charging them $2.00.
MENTON—Continue now with the conversation you had with Mr. Neff.
CARRILLO—That was about all. He told me—then he started to write looking at the paper on the wall as he talked to me and said a few words. What are you going to do? I asked. I am going to write this up. He said it is news with me and I will write it up. I told him and asked him then I don't think you ought to write it up—let me explain and investigate this, find out what it is all about. But he just kept on writing.
JUDGE—Did he reply to you?
CARRILLO—He said, "Well it is news with us. Then he said you will have to call Mr. Burke about keeping that out of the paper."
MENTON—Did he leave after that?

CARRILLO—He did.
MENTON—Did you afterwards call Mr. Burke?
CARRILLO—I did. At Mr. Neff's request.
MENTON—You called Mr. Burke at his office, did you?
CARRILLO—I first went to his office. There was nobody there. Came back to my office about 1 o'clock or afterward. A few minutes after I called him by phone.
MENTON—Did you get him by phone?
CARRILLO—I did.
MENTON—Did you have a conversation with him?
CARRILLO—I did.
MENTON—Did he tell you that Mr. Burke was speaking?
CARRILLO—Just one moment. There is no foundation—the testimony is incompetent—I don't know whether he talked to Mr. Burke or if he did not. I think he has to prove it was Mr. Burke that was speaking.
MENTON—That is what I was going to do.
JUDGE—The objection is sustained—You must lay your foundation for it before you are permitted to introduce.
MENTON—You say you inquired for Mr. Burke, did you? Did someone answer the phone?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—What did the party say?
CLARK—There is no foundation being laid for such testimony.
JUDGE—Sustained.
MENTON—What number did you call Mr. Carrillo? Did you call the Register office or Mr. Burke's home or whom did you call?
CARRILLO—If I recall I called the Register—I looked in the telephone directory for the editor.
MENTON—Was there a number for the editor?
CARRILLO—I noticed several numbers.
MENTON—Was there a response to the call?
CARRILLO—Yes.
MENTON—What did you say when you received a response to the call?
CARRILLO—I asked if I could speak to Mr. Burke.
MENTON—Did another person answer the phone then?
CARRILLO—Yes, sir.
MENTON—And when this other party answered the phone did he say it was—
CLARK—Just one moment. It is immaterial. Calls for hearsay and incompetent testimony.
Sustained.
MENTON—Who answered the phone?
CARRILLO—I don't know.
MENTON—Do you know whether it was Mr. Burke that was speaking to you or not?
CLARK—Immaterial—calls for hearsay and incompetent testimony.
JUDGE—Sustained. Says he did not know who answered the phone.
MENTON—Had you ever talked to Mr. Burke before you called him on the phone?
CARRILLO—No, sir.
MENTON—Referring to the first cause of action in the complaint—the 5th paragraph thereof under the head "7 Charges Made Against Chas. Carrillo" and the paragraph numbered 1. That Mr. Charles Carrillo etc.—is that true or false, Mr. Carrillo?
CARRILLO—False, not true.
MENTON—Referring to the second paragraph that he has accepted money from, etc. Is that true or false?
CARRILLO—Not true.
MENTON—Referring to the third paragraph that he has attempted to extort money from defendants who have been released from jail upon the statement that through his, Carrillo's influence, the release was obtained? Is that true or false?
CARRILLO—False.
MENTON—Referring to the fourth paragraph that he was demanded, etc. Is that true or false?
CARRILLO—It is not true.
MENTON—Referring to the fifth paragraph that he has threatened, etc. True or false?

CARRILLO—Not true.
MENTON—Referring to the sixth paragraph "that he has used his influence to collect, etc. Were the fees that you charged exorbitant fees?"
CARRILLO—No, sir.
MENTON—What was the largest fee that you did receive for such services?
CARRILLO—$2.00.
MENTON—Did you obtain these through any influence that you used upon those people as court interpreter?
CARRILLO—No, sir.
MENTON—Did you solicit any of these persons to come to you for the purpose of obtaining those licenses or did they come voluntarily?
CARRILLO—They came voluntarily.
MENTON—Referring to the seventh paragraph "that he has illegally extorted money on the pretense that he got permission from members of the family of the defendant in jail to visit him. Did you ever extort any money from anyone on the pretense that you got permission for them to visit their family in jail?"
CARRILLO—No, sir.
MENTON—Did you ever extort any money from anyone for any purpose?
CARRILLO—No, sir.
MENTON—Referring to the second cause of action and the publication referred to therein on page 4 of the complaint which reads as follows: "What did Carrillo etc., to office as interpreter." Now have you ever attempted to intimidate any of these Mexican people?
JUDGE—How could that question be involved in the matter of this publication—it is a question of what the evidence was presented to the board of supervisors—so the question involves as to whether there was evidence to warrant the writing of this article, isn't that correct?
MENTON—I think you are correct.
MENTON—Referring to the third cause of action under the heading "Here Are the Facts," first—that Carrillo took a fee of $2 to visit another in jail.
CLARK—Court please, I don't know whether you will assume from the mere fact that the article is headed "Here Are the Facts" that there was evidence before the board that this was true. If so, the same rule you referred to in connection with the other cause of action would apply. The question is whether or not the fact stated in this article is true. First—his testimony denied by no one. I, that true, Mr. Carrillo or not? The question is as to whether in the hearing there was evidence if that was the only evidence presented before them that was undenied or that this testimony in relation to Jose Becerra was not denied by anyone.
MENTON—I might say, your honor, at this time, that by reason of the fact that the board of supervisors did not permit any more testimony and ended the hearing abruptly upon the statement that they didn't want to hear any more testimony, we were not permitted to go further in that hearing and present the evidence denying these statements. That was the situation we were confronted with. I am of the opinion that it would be comparable to say that is true—
JUDGE—The only question is whether he was given the opportunity to deny it.
MENTON—That is the—
JUDGE—In other words, as to whether or not this is a fair statement of what took place there in that hearing.
MENTON—Your honor please, that allegation in their answer that those facts were and are now true tend to establish the truth of these facts in the defense. That might be rebuttal if that is established as their defense that all of these statements and charges were at the time were made and now are true.
CLARK—In the first place, I assume that the counsel is perfectly familiar with the bill of pleading that the affirmative allegations of the defense would be denied. In the second place, an allegation of our plaintiff is not to relate to whether or not there was evidence—an opportunity to deny or dispute the evidence that was introduced in respect to this.
JUDGE—If he had an opportunity and didn't introduce evidence certainly these defendants could say it was evidence produced by the board and not denied. He did not deny that—the—MENTON—The fact remains, however, that it is alleged in the answer that they are true.

JUDGE—You are in the position where you have to establish your complaint before you are entitled to whatever weakness there may be in the defense if you fail to prove a cause of action. It seems to me that all this article—exhibit 5—attempts to do is to report that the testimony of Jose Becerra was denied by no one. The second item—fee of $2 from one Mexican was not denied—matter of the temporary permits was not denied—item three of that article likewise—4, 5, 6 and 7. That goes to testimony denied only by Carrillo. It is evident that this article upon its face shows or tends to show what took place at the hearing before the board of supervisors. Was it correctly reported?
MENTON—I think it goes farther than the attempt to report the proceedings of the board of supervisors. It says that "Here Are the Facts." It doesn't follow and say facts are these; certain testimony, denied by no one.
JUDGE—Testimony denied only by Carrillo—and there are four items under that. None of those are the items contained in the second cause of action are they? In view of the introduction of exhibit 5 I feel constrained I must hold true to the exhibit than to the allegations contained in lines 16 to 22 inclusive on page 6 and part of paragraph 2 of your third cause of action in your complaint. It is obvious you cannot pick out a portion of a publication free from the entire publication and endeavor to

Why Fat Folks Stay Fat

"The trouble with me, and I guess this applies to 80% of the men and women who are putting on weight, I didn't have the energy or power to keep it off. Lost all interest in any healthy activity and just lazed around accumulating the old pounds until I got that 'Kruschen feeling.'"
Start taking Kruschen Salts—that's the common-sense way to reduce—but don't take them with the idea that they possess reducing qualities in themselves.
This is what they do—they clean out the impurities in your blood by keeping the bowels, kidneys and liver in splendid working shape and fill you with a vigor and tireless energy you'd most forgotten had existed.
As a result, instead of planting yourself in an easy chair every free moment and letting flabby fat accumulate you feel an urge for activity that keeps you moving around doing the things you've always wanted to do and needed to do to keep you in good condition—you get the needed exercise.
Be careful of the foods you eat—then watch the pounds slide off.
Kruschen Salts are the up-to-date Fountain of Youth. Take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot or cold water tomorrow morning and every morning—and if they don't change your whole idea about reducing, go back and get the small price you paid for them. Get a 5-cent bottle of Kruschen Salts—lasts 4 weeks—at Mateer Drug Co. or any progressive druggist anywhere in the world.
It's the Little Daily Dose that does it—Adv.

LIONS CLUB TO PRESENT CITY'S KREG PROGRAM

By THE RADIO EDITOR

The Lions club, with its host of high class entertainers, including the Lions quartet, will present the program to be featured tonight on the City of Santa Ana hour, over KREG, "Voice of the Orange Empire." That announcement was made by Lyle "Andy" Anderson, KREG program director and member of the Lions quartet. The city of Santa Ana hour will get under way at 9:30 and continue to 10:30. Opening with a studio program from 4 to 4:30, KREG will present in the following half hour the daily Children's hour with Inez Moore. The Children's hour this evening will feature Elbert Stewart, a little reader, who is a pupil of Miss Etta Hale. The Shoppers' Guide musical program will fill the hour from 5 to 6 o'clock and then, from 6 to 6:30, listeners will be entertained by Eugene Brown, piano, and "Chuck" Morgan, violin. Jessie Johnson, contralto, and Helen Winchell, soprano, will sing for a half-hour starting at 6:30 and the 7 to 7:15 period will bring the late news dispatches. Shaffer's Music house will present its regular Tuesday night "Old-Timers' program," from 7:15 to 7:30.

The programs sponsored by the Diamond Shoe store, the Yost Halmay shop and the Horton Furniture company, from 7:30 to 8:30 tonight, will feature the Betty Beauty Shop trio. "Doc and Ray," return to the air via KREG tonight, entertaining their vast audience of fans first from 8:30 to 8:45 and then returning at 9 o'clock for another 15 minutes of instrumental and vocal music. The period between 8:45 to 9 o'clock will bring the weekly radio class in "Modern Writers," which will be conducted tonight by Agnes Todd Miller, member of the English department in the Santa Ana Junior college. She will speak on the American novelist, Willa Cather. "Andy" Anderson, KREG tenor, will bring his 15 minutes of requests to the microphone between 9:15 and 9:30, when the hour's program, sponsored by the City of Santa Ana, and presented by artists from the Santa Ana Lions club, will get under way. Listeners who remember the last program presented by the Lions will be certain to tune in tonight for a repetition of the fun.

NONE HURT WHEN AIRPLANE CRASHES

An aviator and two passengers, together with a number of small boys, narrowly escaped serious injury at 11:30 yesterday morning when an airplane, piloted by John Eaton, of Anaheim, crashed at the Eddie Martin field, at the end of South Main street, after colliding with a parachute which was anchored to the ground.

A part of the parachute suddenly tilted upward just as Eaton was making a landing and caught one of the wings of his plane, causing the ship to tip over one side.

A number of boys, playing around the parachute, barely missed by the plane. The damage to both wings of the plane was heavy, but no one was injured. Eaton is a member of the Orange County Flying club and is not associated with the Martin airport.

Program Enjoyed By Chandler Club

The regular monthly meeting of Chandler's Santa Ana Booster club was held last night in the display rooms of Ira Chandler and son, at Third and Main streets. After the regular business meeting a program, arranged by Roy Singleton, was presented. Several selections were played by Chandler's Booster band, consisting of Miss Edith Damewood, Miss Edith Downing, Mrs. Roy Singleton, Arthur Durby and Fred Prewitt. Arthur Durby performed many mystical stunts and William Hart played several selections. Cartoons and caricatures by Roy Singleton completed the program.

BEAN AND BEET CROP ROTATION URGED IN TALK

RADIO EDITOR'S NOTE—The full text of the address delivered last night over KREG by E. E. Eastman, assistant county farm advisor, will be printed on Saturday's Farm Page in the Register.

An alarming decrease in the acreage devoted to sugar beets in Orange county was pointed out last night in the talk delivered over KREG, the official broadcasting station of The Register, during the weekly "Agricultural Service" program, by E. E. Eastman, assistant county farm advisor.

Prospects for the 1930 crop, in regards to quality, are the most favorable observed in several years, Eastman said.

Over 22,000 acres were devoted to sugar beets in 1922, the assistant farm advisor asserted, but since that time the decrease has been steady, until this year there are only 46 acres of beets under cultivation. Beet tonnage has decreased, but not proportionately, from 143,000 tons, in 1922, to 55,223 tons in 1929.

This acreage decrease, Eastman declared, has occurred despite the steady increase in yield per acre since 1922. Improved cultural practices brought the yield from six and half tons, in 1922, to 10 tons, in 1929.

Crop rotation was suggested by Eastman as a solution for the problem, which now threatens to push the sugar industry out of the county. Lima beans, he said, suffer severely, occasionally, from dry rot, and a decreasing yield is in evidence. With a rotation of bean and sugar beet crops, Eastman believes, the bean trouble may be lessened, if not eliminated, and at the same time much additional acreage will be devoted to sugar beets.

OPEN NIGHT LEAGUE FLAG RACE

State To Probe Carnera's 'Victory'

CHEVALIER AHEAD OF HUGE RIVAL WHEN DISQUALIFIED; BOTH PURSES ARE HELD UP

By CARLE H. BENNETT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—The hollow victory of Primo Carnera, Italy's challenger for the heavyweight championship, over Leon ("Bombo") Chevalier at Oakland last night will be completely investigated by the California athletic commission. Charles Traung, commissioner with jurisdiction over Northern California, announced early today that purses of the two fighters had been held up pending the inquiry and he hoped to hold it as soon as possible.

James Wood Is Chairman Of Commission

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—James Wood has again been elected chairman of the state athletic commission.

His election came as a surprise to the commissioners in session here yesterday. It was believed that Wood was going to resign to permit the names of William Hanlon and Dr. Harry Martin to be put before the commission as likely chairmen.

Part of the business completed by the commission was the reinstatement of Frankie Campbell, light heavyweight.

SIX SAINTS TO TAKE PART IN ALL-SOUTHERN

This is vacation week at Santa Ana high school but there will be no rest for six of Coach "Tex" Oliver's track and field athletes who will continue light training for three more big meets this season.

Preliminaries for the annual Southern California Interscholastic championships will be held on the track at Los Angeles high school April 26.

The "All-Southern" itself will be conducted on the same cinderpath May 3.

The California State meet, open only to those who place in the All-Southern, will be held on the University of California track at Berkeley May 10.

Saints eligible to take part in the Southern California Interscholastic preliminaries are Captain Norman Paul, broad jump, shot put and 220 yard low hurdles; Al Reboin, high and low hurdles and pole vault; Paul Gilbert, high jump; Doyle Jacobs, broad jump, and the relay team composed of Paul, Reboin, James Daneri and Lloyd Nuzum.

Oliver will have his athletes practice several times this week and daily next week. The Saints are a better "big meet" team than anything else and are expected to place high in the All-Southern classic. While first place is conceded San Diego, Coach Oliver believes his men have a good chance to take second.

'BIG TRAIN' AND HIS SON

There was a happy reunion in Washington the other day when Walter Johnson, manager of the Senators, hurried back to visit his son, Walter Perry Johnson Jr., confined in a hospital the past several weeks with two broken legs. The "Big Train" will have to lead his team into battle at the opening of this season without the hearty support of his son in the grandstand.

300,000 EXPECTED TO WATCH FIRST GAMES OF SEASON IN AMERICAN, NATIONAL LEAGUES

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 15.—With the hurry and flurry and roar that is so peculiarly its own, baseball's premiere of the season will burst upon the national ear drum in eight major league cities this afternoon in all the pomp and circumstance of a circus come to town. For this day only, glamor is king and he lives riotously for 24 hours. He dies gradually and at his own convenience, exactly 154 days later.

A national institution, this opening day and its pageantry, and to a neophyte, its taste has to be acquired. They say it grows on one. So does a wart. Anyhow the ceremony always is welcomed with great gusto and today there will be upward of 300,000 sitting on the committee of reception all the way from Boston at the eastern extremity to St. Louis, western outpost of the major league reservation.

The forecast up that way is for cooler temperatures and threatening skies. In Philadelphia, where the world's champion Athletics are to meet their arch-challenger, the Yankees, showers may curtail the proceedings or altogether nullify them. This should be one of the big games of the day with the Yanks, under a new manager, attempting to beat the gun against the club that generally is held at the prohibitive price of 7 to 10 to repeat its 1929 victory in the pennant race.

Grove or Earnshaw, the one-two pitchers of the club, probably will work for the Athletics against Piggas. This pair ought to play to capacity, which is about 38,000.

The Giants and Braves will do better than that at the Polo grounds, which seats upward of 60,000 and probably will see as many as 50,000 this afternoon. The weather, they say, will be threatening. The Giants are only second choice for the pennant and a none too inspiring one, at that, but they will draw against anybody, even a club that is touted to run a resolute last. Hubbell probably will pitch against Seibold, in spite of the fact that the Braves recently acquired Burell Grimes. The latter can and does eat the Giants every time out, but he probably isn't ready yet.

This Grimes business has served to make the Cubs almost as insistent a favorite as the Athletics in the other league, yet every indication is said to point toward what the boys, in their vivid and interesting way, call a banner year. The National league champions can begin to prove this today in their opening game against the Cards, another contender, down in St. Louis.

They ought to come pretty close to selling this one out, too. Bush probably will go for the Cubs but the choice of Mr. Garrulous Street, the new Card manager, depends strictly on circumstances. All games in the middle west are subject to revision by the weather, according to the forecast.

The Pirates and Reds ought to draw 30,000 in Cincinnati, the latter having a new manager, Mr. Howley, and many new faces, including those of Hellmann and Meusel from the American league. The Brooklyn opening, featuring the Dodgers and Phillies, the two dark horses of the race, ought to play to capacity, particularly if Vance is to pitch.

The White Sox, having acquired a new manager, Mr. Bush, and a new hitter, Mr. Smoot, Jolley are presumed to have undergone vast improvement and should make the wheels turn over at least 30,000 times, particularly with the Cleveland Indians, the coming young club of the league. St. Louis and Detroit, a pair of near-contenders, should get along all right, too. All they probably will do is sell out Navin field.

SANTA ANA STARS PLAY AT OLIVE; OFFICIALS EXPECT BIGGEST BASEBALL SEASON

By EDDIE WEST
(Sports Editor of The Register)

The Athletics and the Cubs and the Yankees and all the other counter attractions of the day were relegated to the rumble seat in Mr. John J. Fan's mind today as the baseball-loving populace prepared to inaugurate with fitting ceremonies tonight the opening of the National Night league in five cities in the immediate vicinity of Santa Ana.

A month of training has put the ten teams in shape for a long grind of games that knows no end until mid-August.

Santa Ana's Stars open their season at Olive. Huntington Beach engages Long Beach, the defending champion, at Long Beach. The strong Anaheim aggregation goes to Garden Grove. Orange, composed mostly of Santa Anans, travels to La Habra. Whittier invades Fullerton.

Popularity Unparalleled
Having survived a pessimistic period, night baseball finds itself operating on a firmer basis of public approval and popularity. It is doubtful if any other sport, even football, has kept pace with its striking growth.

New attendance records are certain this season. The league has been enlarged and teams have been strengthened. The lure of the game, with its freer hitting and spectacular fielding, is greater than ever.

The pre-opening guess is that five teams—Santa Ana, Anaheim, Whittier, Huntington Beach and Long Beach—will be in the race from here to there. The edge may belong to Whittier with its powerful pitching staff but the other four certainly have a great chance and, for that matter, it is not right to reckon Olive, Garden Grove and La Habra out of the running without a hearing.

Olive Always Dangerous
The Olive side of the case will be considered this eve for that team is well set for its combat with "Big Bill" Cole's Santa Anans. Olive always has been a tough nut for the Stars to crack, especially inside the Olive orchard. The Stars were carried 16 innings up there last summer and had to get all the breaks to win at that.

Santa Ana enters the campaign with a brand new pitching staff, one absolutely untested in fast company. Ray Price, a lanky slow-ball specialist of considerable color, is the only moundsman who has ever toiled in the league. Price was with Orange last year and was just another pitcher but it is only fair to say that he was never given much offensive or defensive support. With a clever team back of him, such as the one behind him this season, Price is sure to be a greatly improved submariner.

Ed Banta and Walter Jordan are Price's colleagues of the ridge. Banta hails from Madera, a little town in the San Joaquin valley near Fresno, where he did some flossy flinging last summer. He was almost untestable in that region where the class of ball played, however, probably was not as fast as that in this section.

Jordan Developing
Jordan is a husky high school kid of meager experience. He has been developing slowly but surely and the Stars believe he now is ready to take care of himself in Double-A night baseball. Jordan has all the physical attributes and is gaining experience and confidence rapidly.

Outside of the pitching Santa Ana is better prepared than it ever has been before. Manager John Wilcox and Captain Cole having recruited what appears to be a tremendously effective run-making and run-preventing combination.

The reliable "Benny" Wilcox, knowing batters and their abilities better than any catcher in the business, will be working his first full game tonight. He has been held back by injuries but is ready for action again. For the first time in years the Stars have a capable assistant to Wilcox. "Bomo" Koral, a good mechanical receiver, a beautiful thrower and a hard hitter, will understudy Wilcox and also serve as utility man because he can play any position

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

They raised the curtain on the "big show" today but Orange county's only contribution to major league baseball—George Blaeholder—was not there to see what was going on.

The big St. Louis Brown is still a holdout, a violent one who is fully determined to win his argument with the American league club as he was the day in February that he shipped back his unsullied contract.

As far as I know Al Simmons* of the Athletics is the only other major league ball player yet unsigned.

Blaeholder is in fine physical condition. He could step out right now and pitch a full nine-inning ball game against the Yanks or the Athletics, two teams he always has been able to stop in their tracks.

Hours of roadwork on his father's orange grove at Garden Grove and hours of pitching, fielding and batting with boyhood chums have brought his legs and his arm to the fine point of condition demanded of a big league pitcher.

Principle Involved
Big George is not holding out just to be a holdout. He believes there is a principle involved in his case and he is determined to settle the differences now and then forever after hold his peace.

Blaeholder first received his contract February 1. It offered him $5000, the salary he received last year. He immediately returned the parchment to the St. Louis business office.

Another contract arrived February 15, offering him in addition to the $5000, a bonus of $1000 if he did certain things, among them win a lot of ball games. This contract went back unsigned too.

No longer a rookie, Blaeholder knew there was no civil or baseball law by which he could collect such a bonus.

Blaeholder has heard nothing from the club management since February 15. Wires from Bill Killifer, Brown manager, advising him to put his name on the line have not scared the husky Garden Grove athlete.

He'll Sit Tight
"I'm sitting tight," Blaeholder said. "I'll keep in good condition and when they lay that $7500 on the line they can have my services. Until then I'm still sticking around Garden Grove."

Admitting I don't know all there is to know about the business of major league baseball, I fail to see any wisdom in the Browns' stand against Blaeholder.

Here is a young pitcher, one of the most promising in the league, who already has done mighty well with a team that has its troubles winning more games than it loses. Yet they refuse year after year to recognize his steady improvement with a hike in salary.

Blaeholder has been laboring for a rookie's intake for two years. He is a first string moundsman now and is entitled to a first string pitcher's salary.

The Texas Aggie swimming club undefeated since its organization three years ago, began its fourth season recently with a 38 to 37 victory over the Houston Y. M. C. A. natators.

GODFREY READY TO BOX PRIMO CARNERA

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—George Godfrey, the "black shadow" of pugilism, is ready to fight Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight, in Los Angeles or anywhere.

James E. Dougherty, manager of Godfrey, said so on his arrival from Philadelphia last night. Dougherty is here to handle Joe Anderson, Kentucky middleweight, who fights Dave Shade tonight.

"Godfrey has been given the 'run around' for years because he was too big," Dougherty said. "But Carnera is bigger. The Italian has been fed enough second-raters, so let's see how good he really is. Godfrey is the only heavyweight big enough to give this giant a battle on practically even terms."

VON PORAT VS. DeMAVE
ST. LOUIS, April 15.—Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, and Jack De Mave, in and out from Holland, will meet for the second time when they clash here tonight in a 10-round feature bout. Their first meeting resulted in knockout victory for the Norseman.

NIGHT LEAGUE BASEBALL RACE OPENS TONIGHT

well. He will be used for relief pitching work among other things.

Youel Replaces Cole

Curt Youel, a rangy southpaw just out of prep school, replaces Cole at first base. Youel will not hit as well as the big field general but will not suffer by comparison otherwise, and as he obtains experience Youel's batting is expected to improve, too. He is a beautiful fielder and a hustler.

The only undecided position is second base where Leavitt Daley and Bill Foote are still having a friendly battle for the post. They are both flashy fielders, good throwers and daring baserunners. Daley so far this spring has been hitting the ball more robustly than Foote and will start tonight.

The left side of the infield was decided long before the season opened. "Memphis" Hill will be at shortstop and Darwin ("Scotty") Scott will be at third base.

Hill is the Stars' sparkplug, the outstanding offensive and defensive force. "As Hill goes so go the Stars" has long been a phrase about the Santa Ana ball club. The little shortstop is not a driving hitter but he is a good one and particularly a smart one. He is the greatest hunter in night baseball and once on the bases runs with rare speed and shrewdness. He takes chances and looks good taking them. Defensively, Hill is all that may be asked. He starts for a ball fast and throws hard and accurately from any position and at going into the shallow outfield for pop flies there is no infielder in night baseball to compare with him.

Scott, but little larger than his contemporary, is a driving hitter, the best on the club. Scott slugs all kinds of pitching on the nose, many of his raps going for extra bases. He is a fast man on the paths, too, but a conservative, intelligent baserunner and one not prone to get caught taking unnecessary chances. On defense Scott is always steady and sure.

Orrville Schuchardt, unquestionably the sweetest bit of fly-chasing machinery in the night sport, is the outstanding Santa Ana outfielder and the only one who has definitely clinched his job—center field. Schuchardt goes out and gets 'em for his pitchers. He makes the hard chances look easy with a grace and speed that often belies tough chances. Schuchardt is a dangerous offensive man, too. Although regarded as a "drag" or "bunt" batter, Schuchardt frequently meets the ball solidly for long drives and once on the bases is, like Hill, simply poison.

Wayne Nelson is sure to start in left field. Always a sure fielder and a strong thrower, Nelson is hitting the ball savagely this season. Nelson used to be a switch hitter, changing from left to right, but is now swinging only from the left side of the plate and getting far better results.

Randolph Bell and "Rosey" Merrill are the other outfielders. Cole can toss the towel. Perry was only assisting in the care of the Negro.

Use of "Substance" Charged
Chevalier charged that Perry had put on his face after the second round some grease containing a "substance" that burned his nose, throat, mouth and affected his sight.

"The stuff nearly blinded me," Chevalier said.

McGrath said he had asked Perry to work with him because he had done so on several occasions when his boxers fought in Los Angeles.

"I don't know why Perry threw in the towel," McGrath said. "I think he made a grave mistake. If the referee had asked me if I wanted the fight stopped I would have told him to let it go on. I sent Chevalier into the ring to win and I kept him going at top speed every round."

Athletic Commissioner James Woods, who sat with Traung, said: "It was the worst thing that I have ever seen in the boxing game."

In addition to Chevalier's charge there were a number of accusations that met with instant denial.

Carnera Retreats

Carnera had a tough battle from start to finish and then learned that the $10,000 he had expected had been placed in a vault at orders of the commission.

His opponent had landed the blows and had sent many a punch against his jaw. Chevalier even made Carnera back up around the ring, a feat heretofore unseen in this country. He did not hit Carnera on the body once, sending every blow in the direction of the head.

Carnera missed repeatedly and scored only one knockdown, which was about 30 seconds before the fight ended. The Negro took nine counts but was up on one knee for the last five of them. Chevalier had not been expected to last more than two rounds.

The Italian "man mountain" appeared to be surprised at the ability of Chevalier and often looked to his corner for instructions. He slipped on the wet canvas three times, tumbling once with a bump that could be heard throughout the park.

Chevalier became the first man in this country who had fought Carnera and walked from the ring without losing consciousness but the state athletic commission wants to know all the reasons for it.

Has not decided which will be in right field at Olive although it probably will be Merrill. Both are good hitters and fair fielders.

Because of his wider experience, Price probably will go to the pitching post with Wilcox behind the rubber.

Olive, standing pat on the team that worried every other club in the race last year, will use Rudy Heman against the Stars. Heman specializes on a fast ball that curves in. He has always been effective against right hand hitters but it is a question how well he will battle the Stars with their flock of southpaw swingers. And it also is a question how well Price or whoever Cole elects to use will be able to handcuff a team that plays better ball against the tough teams than it does against the soft touches.

Game-time will be 8 o'clock. New bleachers have been installed at the Olive park along the first base side of the field. More than 700 persons may be accommodated now. There also is plenty of auto parking space officials said.

ton Beach needs little else to be in the race. Maylin, Neal, Butcher and Mittelstedt, all once identified with Long Beach, belong to Huntington Beach now. Perry Callahan, John Seltzer, "Bullets" Marshall, Joe Gardner, "Bronk" Millard and other Oiler veterans appear on the club's eligibility list.

OLIVE—This team is never to be taken lightly. On its home grounds especially it is one of the hardest teams in Southern California to defeat. Rudy Heman and Freddie Guenther are pitchers of known ability. What the club lacks in offensive ability it makes up for in team spirit and determination. Olive takes the field virtually as it did last summer. Turry, Valentine, Arguello, Pat Rice, Walter, Ed Guenther, Brelle and Walter are slated for first string positions.

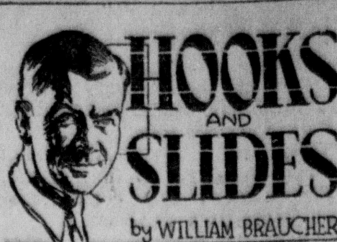

GARDEN GROVE—The Chillpeppers' improving young gunner, Earl Morrill, is the best bet of this team. Each season Morrill has shown improvement. He figures to win more games than he loses this semester. Garden Grove has not strengthened materially, however, and if Morrill falls down the club will not be in the race all the way. Most of the same faces—Garr, Natland, Fulson, Olson, Tyler, Andres, Hanes and Bryant will be in the Garden Grove lineup.

FULLERTON—Fullerton returns to the fold after a year's suspension from the league for lack of interest. The team has little to recommend it except new blood. The young fellows may give the city the class of ball it deserves.

LA HABRA—Strictly a "dark horse" is La Habra, eligibility list names all being unfamiliar except that of Jimmy Mansfield, once the fast ball king of the incandescent industry. Mansfield threw his strong left arm away three years ago and has never been the same airtight pitcher since although a year's idleness may have brought him around again. Even if Mansfield has regained his old form it is extremely doubtful whether the Violet Rays have assembled enough attacking strength to make runs for the diminutive and colorful southpaw.

WINS COACHES' TROPHY

Hugh Linn, captain of the Iowa State college wrestling team, was awarded the silver cup emblematic of the conference high scoring record. The cup is awarded annually by the Big Six conference coaches.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Catcher Jimmy Wilson of the Cardinals, one of the greatest of receivers who never passes up an opportunity to tell an umpire he's a robber, clothes himself in silence when Bill Klem is working behind the plate. . . . The reason is that when Jimmy broke in with the Phils, Manager Fletcher, thinking he would have some fun at Jimmy's expense, told him to ride a "fresh bush league umpire" who was just breaking in. . . . The umpire was the veteran Bill Klem, who decided right there that Jimmy Wilson was the world's worst catcher. . . . He's never forgiven Wilson. . . . But Jimmy says in a close ball game he'd rather have Klem back of him than any other gusser in the league. . . . For the second time in history, Yale swimmers have hung up a six-year string of successive tank victories. . . . Princeton and the Navy beat Yale in 1924, which are Eli's only swim losses in the last 13 years. . . . Statistics show Yale victorious in 156 out of 159 dual meets since 1918.

COURAGE, CUSTOMERS

Phil Scott is safely tucked away in Merrie England. Primo Carnera continues on his happy way, pushing over obscure gladiators in this part of the country and that. Jack Sharkey is matched to meet Max Schmelling on June 12 in New York. Jack Dempsey gets off a train here and there and throws dark hints to inquiring reporters that he may be back in there too far distant.

It is time for the customers to have courage. After Messrs. Duffy and See, handlers of the oversized beef from abroad, have squeezed the last crying nickel obtainable from the patrons with exhibition shows, the time will come for Carnera to do some fighting. Until then, it is most unlikely that any of his adversaries ever will smack him on the chin and see if he's real.

K. O. SPELLS SUCCESS

It will be interesting to watch just how carefully Carnera is brought up to his first fight. Jack Kearns brought Dempsey along by careful stages, piling up a great number of knockouts before going after the real spinach. The repetition of "K. O." after a fighter's name means quite a lot to the customers, even if the name in front of the magic words is Mumpus Grumpus or Joe Skovar.

When it is finally deemed necessary for Carnera to fight, his opponent will be carefully chosen. In the background for the final shoveful of kopecks lurks Jack Dempsey. Sharkey, by beating Schmelling June 12, probably would be cut in on the big shot. Dempsey may yet return to meet Schmelling, however, as Max has a chin the Old Mauler would love to touch. The steam has gone from Dempsey's legs, but he still would be able to give one a fairly rough nudge on the jaws.

Events are slowly shaping themselves for some major brawls. It is a time for the customers to have courage.

STUFF ON THE BALL

"Red" Faber stood Mr. McGraw's Giants on their ears the other day, allowing two great big hits in seven innings. That's what a spitball will do for an old man trying to get along.

Urban Charles Faber will be 42 years old when September comes. The other spitball pitcher in the American league, Jack Quinn, was pitching in a small way in 1908 that Brutus put Julius Caesar on the spot.

Urban himself will tell you that the spitball is the easiest delivery there is to fling.

"I was pitching for Minneapolis in 1911," said Urban the other day, "and it was because I had a sore arm that I took up the spitball. It's because I am a spitball pitcher that I am able to keep going today."

Faber says Ed Walsh was over-worked and did not have to quit because the spitball was hard on his arm.

The blend that revolutionized smoking

THE INCOMPARABLE BLEND of Camel Cigarettes is probably the most important discovery in the history of smoking. It made cigarette smoking popular. Camel changed the smoking habits of the nation and has given pleasure to more millions of people than any other cigarette.

This exclusive blend assures in Camel a smoothness, a mildness and a mellow fragrance that cannot be imitated. It preserves all the excellent qualities of the choice tobaccos of which Camels are made and melds them all together into a delightful harmony of smoke pleasure. It sets Camel apart as a cigarette of distinctive character and provides for Camel smokers the very highest form of smoking luxury.

Speaking of oil... how far east is "eastern"?

To Westerners, most of the United States is east. Does that account for misleading use of the term, "eastern motor oil"?

The original "eastern" came from Pennsylvania . . . which still produces the world's finest crude. But today, "eastern" takes in a lot of territory—and many different oils of widely varying quality.

The better, safer way is to specify PENNZOIL. Then you will always get Supreme Pennsylvania Quality, guaranteed 100% pure Pennsylvania oil, refined by the famous Pennzoil process.

The Story of a Girl Whose Secret Trained Her from New York to California

BY KATHLEEN NORRIS

(Copyright, 1930, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

As in the man's bulk in the dimly lit room, the light of the pleasant room reminded Dory of a spider—a bloated big spider, waiting in the shadows for its prey. She was a little pale when she went in, but she held her head up, and she was smiling faintly.

"Hello, Wally," she said. "Remember that Mabel had said once that Wally's hand was like a warm poached egg. 'You aren't a bit more surprised to see me than I am to be here,' said Wally gently.

"I thought you were in New York."

"I was. But I had to come back here. Cough," said Wally, shaking his head seriously.

"And where are you now, and what are you doing, Wally?"

"Well, I'm going to be here for a while."

"In California?" She managed a pleased, surprised expression. But a wave of cold vertigo shook her inwardly.

"In Palo Alto, probably."

"Here?" Dory felt her throat close completely. She swallowed. "Right here." His smile invited her to share his stupid air of triumph. "I'm thinking of taking a little place called Rutter's cottage," he told her.

"Rutter's cottage? You mean the little Spanish house with the blue shutters? But—but is Sonia coming out with you, Wally?"

"No, she's still with that wop. They have a little girl."

"They have a baby?" The mother of a baby brightened sympathetically.

"Had. It died. The doctor said Sonia was anaemic to begin with, and the kid had no heart at all, practically."

"Born dead?"

"No, I believe it lived for three months. This was last summer—terrible summer. I never see them."

The agony of it. The agony of having had the little creature, and having to let her go! Dory thought of her sunburned little tramp—his white blanket with pink stripes, his silver bowl, his shining nursery—

And Sonia had fought for her child in the hot streets and burn-of me," Wally assured her paternally.

Her head and color came up suddenly.

"I know that," she answered haughtily. "You don't suppose that I am—advancing this money to—buy you?"

"Oh, lady—lady, don't talk as if I was blackmailing you," Wally warned her.

"Because I assure you," Dory said decidedly, "you shouldn't advance one penny."

"Look here," he said resentfully, "I didn't come here to be insulted."

"I'm not insulting you," Dory countered warmly. But she felt a little twist of fear in her heart. What a horrible way to be talking!

Wally was on his feet, studying her, his lips shut, breath coming through his moving nostrils, his head hanging a little forward.

"We understand each other," he said briefly, with a scornful little laugh.

"You may understand me," said Dory, "but I confess that I don't understand you. You keep implying that you have something to hold over me—that I am more or less obliged to loan you money."

"Well," she went on in a silence that was more alarming to her than any words from him could have been, "old friendship is an obligation, and I'm very glad, if you're stranded out here, to help you out. But don't act as if there was an understanding between us."

"We can leave it at that, if you like," Wally said sulkily.

"How else is there to leave it?"

"All right, all right," he said. "You're staking me to a trip back home, that's all I care about."

Dory was standing opposite him, her eyes fixed on his steadily.

"You don't know—one thing—about me, that I'm not willing to have the whole world know," she said.

"All right—ee!" he agreed airily. "So don't think—she talked on, and he accompanied her to the car, and they went downtown to the bank together. But Dory was already tormented with a sense that what she said meant nothing, accompanied by the significance of what she did. She cashed a check for five hundred dollars irresolutely, doubtfully, but she cashed it nevertheless, and when they were on the station platform she put the ten bills into his hand.

"He didn't have to look up the account to cash that," observed Wally. "Pretty soft for you!"

Dory said a fretted and feverish good-bye on the station platform. It was twelve o'clock. He had pressed the intention of taking the train for Chicago at six that same afternoon. She knew she would not feel safe, she would not breathe normally, until then.

"Here's how it is," said Wally, in parting. "What these people don't know isn't going to hurt 'em. You help me out—I help you out—and that's all there is to it."

"We have twelve minutes before your train goes," said Dory. "And it's long enough for me to say that you must be crazy. I have no secrets from my husband, Wally Oliver, nor with you. Get that through your head. You took the tone, just before I was married, and again today, that I have something to hide. I haven't. You haven't a shred of evidence to back up—"

How had she gotten into this ridiculous sentence? This was exactly what she had not meant to say. She stopped abruptly, with red cheeks.

"I may not have any evidence of anything," Wally said, "supposing me to be in the position to need it—which I don't admit."

"Then don't go round talking about things you don't know," Dory said hotly. "Children couldn't sound sillier than this," she thought.

"Who's talking?" Wally demanded, in an injured tone.

"You are. I help you out, and you return the favor by suggesting all sorts of things."

"I didn't know I was suggesting anything," Wally, brushing cigar ashes from his wrinkled dirty checked brown vest, said innocently. "You saw that case in the paper the other day—"

"Then you sent me that," Dory said, narrowing her eyes.

"Sure I sent it to you. You knew my handwriting," the man answered, unperturbed.

"Come to Mr. Penfield with any nonsense as that," Dory warned him, "and you might find yourself out on the sidewalk."

"Going to a wife's husband is the last thing I'd do in this life," Wally assured her considerably with a virtuous expression.

"Especially with a lie," Dory commented severely.

They walked up and down the station steps for a minute, in silence.

"It might be a lie, and it might not," said Wally then mildly. "If I was the husband and I got wind of a thing like that, I'd simply turn to the lady and say, 'Do you deny it?' and if she did, then that'd be that."

Dory did not speak again. The train came roaring up the line a moment later, and baggy fat Wally, in his checked brown suit, climbed on board. He lifted his hat politely from the platform, and Dory walked slowly back to her car.

She drew deep breaths of the warm noontime air; now and then she shook her head as if midgets bothered her. Getting rid of Wally was like clearing the atmosphere. She reviewed the events of the last hour as she drove home.

"A miss is as good as a mile," thought Dory. "He's gone, and that's all there is to it. He's gone. He may show up again some day, and he may not. It was the wise thing to do anyway. He doesn't know anything, he has no proofs of anything. . . . Anyway, he's got his money—more money than he ever had in his life before—and he's gone. If ever he if ever he saw Jed—and began to talk, the only thing to do would be flat denial—absolutely flat denial. How easy! What could he do, and what could he say, except get out?"

"It doesn't worry me in the least," she said in her thoughts, lunching with Mrs. Penfield and the old lady.

But she could not put it out of her mind.

"I should have refused him that money. I wonder what he would have done? He might have hung around town. That would have been dreadful. . . . I could have given him two hundred and fifty—that would have gotten him home. . . . And what does he know, anyway? He doesn't know anything. Nobody does. . . . What a skunk! What a skunk! To follow up a girl and try to blackmail her—no wonder blackmail is illegal. I could have him arrested—I'd like to, too. . . ."

Nora M. Allen Is Named County Probation Officer

B. AND P. W. CLUB HEARS TALK BY HAROLD COVERT

The talk given yesterday noon before the Business and Professional Women's club of Santa Ana at St. Ann's inn by Harold S. Covert, manager of the California Woolen mills in this city, evolved itself into an informal question and answer discussion. With delightful informality the speaker chatted with the women regarding the intricacies of the manufacturing process of woolen goods.

Covert has been in his official capacity as manager of the mills here since their organization in August, 1927. He was, before that time, connected with the mills at Harriman, Tenn.

The introduction of machinery has made a great improvement in the woolen industry as compared to the hand carding and spinning of "grandma's day," according to the speaker. However, the basic principle of wool manufacturing remains the same as in those romantic days when hand looms were used.

Covert declared that any wool blanket that retailed for less than $10, a three pound blanket, would not be worth the price asked. He explained how the open air craze of several years ago brought the wool blanket into its own. Cotton formerly had been used because, when new, it is as warm and comfortable as the woolen materials.

Amusement was introduced into the hour, when Covert loyally championed wool and explained that the only reason flannel underwear "scratched" was not because of the wool in it, but rather due to the minute particles of burrs in the wool. He said that in the local mills pure wool is used, the blankets are two-faced and the weave is made by process of looms running two and four shuttles. It has been only recently that the factory here has produced flannels, and the nap is put on after the blanket is made. The best blanket in the mill here is composed of four point weight in natural grey sheep's wool, with no dye, and a border of black wool. He explained that an acid dye is at no time fast to light, but that the color will stand ordinary washing. He does, how-

"Coming To Terms With Ultimate Things" is the theme for the daily devotions during Holy Week in the Fellowship of Prayer Program. Today the subject is "Evil Its Own Destroyer" and this third of the series is as follows:

rites for ANAHEIM MAN ON WEDNESDAY

ANAHEIM, April 15.—Jacob Ranker, 66, well known Anaheim resident, died yesterday morning at the family residence at 514 West Chestnut street.

Mr. Ranker was a retired Anaheim blacksmith, coming here about 22 years ago. He came to California 43 years ago from Ohio after spending several years there. He was a native of Germany.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Clara T. Ranker; three daughters, Mrs. Theresa Raye of Los Angeles, Miss Helene Ranker, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Pauline Stone, of El Modena; four sons, Frank, William J., Andy and Joe, all of Anaheim; two brothers, Louis Ranker, of Pomona, and Joe Ranker, of Tiffin, O., and one sister, Mrs. Josephine Leininger, of Pomona.

ever, recommend dry-cleaning woolen blankets, and expressed the opinion that a cotton warp blanket is just as good as an all wool blanket.

"Wool runs in three grades," Covert stated. "The low, or three-eighths, which is more like hair than wool and is next to the low braid; the half-blood and the marino. The latter two grades are the finest. The making of woolen goods is an intricate process. We first have to scour, carbonize, dye, card and warp it. Then fill and weave it, after which it is placed in a washer and pulled, washed and finished."

Covert was introduced by Dr. Hester Olewiler, program chairman for this month, who today revealed the other interesting programs scheduled for next Monday and April 28. Next week Dr. Evalene Percival, of Los Angeles, president of the California Osteopathic association, will give a health talk for business women; and on April 28, Harry M. Baade, of this city, will speak on Oriental tours.

Preceding the address yesterday Mrs. Minnie Mayhill, president, appointed Della Maude Ryan, chairman, and Alma Karlsson and Alma Sweet, to serve as a committee to plan the display for the Santa Ana club at the district convention to be held in June.

Mrs. Laura McNaught and Miss Martha Whitson reported on the district board meeting recently held at Upland. Other announcements were made by Miss Nancy Elder, of the Y. W. C. A., and Mrs. Golden Weston, director of adult education.

DAWSON NOW IN LOCAL CONTEST FOR CONSTABLE

Bert E. Dawson, engaged in police duty here for a number of years, today announced himself as a candidate for constable of Santa Ana township. He has been a resident of the city for 10 years.

Pointing out that he is now manager of the Santa Ana Merchant patrol, and referring to his previous experience here on the police force, Dawson said he felt that he is well qualified to perform the duties involved in the constableness.

"When Faust asked Mephistopheles who he was, Mephistopheles replied that 'he was part of a power that was always willing evil but always doing good.' His efforts were constantly being defeated by the more powerful spirit of goodness that dwells in this universe. Shakespeare's tragedies are based on this idea. Giant evil deeds are always coming back upon the heads of the transgressors. Evil is never finally victorious. It has within itself the seeds of its own destruction. The moral order of the world is too much for it. There is a backbone of righteousness in the universe. The presence of evil in the world is frequently cited as an argument against faith in a righteous universe. But evil that is ever being destroyed by itself, and defeated by the power of good, becomes a mighty argument for faith."

It was recalled by friends that Dawson was a candidate here six years ago for supervisor, opposing Col. S. H. Finley. At that time he received a large vote, friends said.

36 NAMES ADDED TO W. C. T. U. ROLL

NEWPORT BEACH, April 15.—Members of the Woman's Christian Temperance union of Newport Beach were revealed today that 36 new names have been added to their roll during the national membership drive, which has just closed. Under the active leadership of Mrs. Flora Beatty, the original membership of 10 women was increased with twice the number of pledges required to fill the quota for the district.

Credit for the success of the drive has been accorded Mrs. Beatty and Mrs. J. C. Gordon, whose untiring efforts served as an inspiration to the group, according to W. C. T. U. members. A canvass was made of Newport Heights, Corona del Mar, Balboa Island and Newport and Balboa.

The next regular meeting will be held at the church parsonage in Newport April 23, when plans will be made for the annual Mother's day meeting May 12. At that time all mothers and children under five years of age, the White Ribbon Recruits, will have a special program.

BRIEF SESSION CONDUCTED BY CITY COUNCIL

The grist presented at the city council mill last night for grinding was so light that the city body held what is believed to have been its briefest session in years. The business cleared consisted largely of matters hanging over from previous sessions.

Marmion Southwest Motors was granted permission to establish a used car market on the northwest corner of First and Bush streets and a similar permit was given Bob Murphy for a market on the southeast corner of Fourth and Rose.

Permission was given for the hanging of an electric sign at 404 West Fourth street and Tom Greer was granted the right to operate a popcorn stand on a lot at 1711 West Fifth street.

The Second Baptist church was granted permission to move the Nazarene church building from the corner of Fifth and Parton to Eighth and Artesia.

A deed to a lot at Delhi was received from Miss Hortense Sommers and was accepted. The property will be used as a site for a pump house necessary to house equipment to pump sewage from that community to a city main line.

The U. S. Pipe and Conduit company was awarded the contract for supplying the city with a large quantity of pipe, the contract calling for 15,000 feet of two-inch pipe, 11,000 feet of four-inch, 4500 feet of six-inch, 30,000 feet of 10-inch and 53,000 feet of 12-inch pipe. The bid price was $26,852.50.

Tentative plans for opening and widening Orange road from Main street to Santa Ana boulevard were discussed but no action was taken.

A proposed ordinance governing the licensing of sign builders and painters was discussed at the afternoon conference and a prepared ordinance was referred to the city attorney for investigation and redrafting, if necessary.

HOLD FUNERAL OF PUPIL WEDNESDAY

LA HABRA, April 15.—Funeral services for Kenneth Thompson, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thompson, of Walnut and Erna streets, will be held from the McAulay and Suters parlors in Fullerton Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment in Angelus Abbey.

The youth was a senior at Fullerton union high school. His death was believed to have resulted from the effects of an automobile accident last year.

APPOINTMENT IS ANNOUNCED BY JUDGE AMES

Mrs. Nora M. Allen, for the last 11 years assistant probation officer in Orange county, yesterday afternoon was named chief of the department, succeeding L. A. "Boss" Warren, who recently went to San Clemente as chief of police.

Mrs. Allen unanimously was approved by the Orange county probation board and the appointment was made by Superior Judge Homer G. Ames, after the committee had turned the name into him for appointment.

At the same time, it was announced that Carl S. Warner, who has been employed as an assistant to Warren for the last two and a half years, would be Mrs. Allen's chief assistant.

Both started on their new duties with the appointment of Mrs. Allen this morning.

There still is another vacancy to be filled, but no appointment has been made as yet. It is thought that Judge Ames will make this appointment from San Diego, where he is sitting on the superior bench this month.

Mrs. Allen, one of the best known women in Orange county, is recognized throughout California as one of the foremost social workers in the state. Her work here during the last 11 years has been highly satisfactory and according to members of the committee it was a case of the job seeking the applicant rather than the applicant seeking the job.

AWAIT REINHARDT

PARIS, April 15.—French theater circles are looking forward with interest to the forthcoming visit of Max Reinhardt, billed here to appear with a specially picked German troupe. Knowing the usual excellence of Reinhardt productions, and his insistence on methodical as well as artistic preparation, the theatergoers will have the opportunity of making an interesting comparison between French and German stage productions.

Sole Owner of These Dental Offices

Note
Dr. Blythe is THE Santa Ana dentist who makes "false" teeth look as though you cut them in your babyhood . . . you'll be simply delighted with his workmanship, and when you look into the mirror, you'll have quite a job to know—which are false, and which are real . . . ! Look into this.

Capital and Surplus

American Fruit Growers Inc. is a sound, adequately financed organization, which assures the best representation in all markets to growers of fruits and vegetables.

Growers affiliated with the A. F. G. know that a dependable, efficient sales service is theirs to command. They know that each and all of the more than 200 A. F. G. sales connections and salaried branch offices are ready to function when a crop is maturing and sales are desired.

With the cooperation of American Growers' great organization of field men, growers are aided in packing and grading their products in the manner most acceptable to the trade. They know that A. F. G. salesmen in the markets will then obtain most advantageous prices.

Furthermore, these growers have the great satisfaction of knowing that the ample finances and the careful business methods of American Fruit Growers Inc. are providing for the maintenance and expansion of every phase of the selling service in which they place their dependence.

HouseholdSigma Tau Psi Group Is Holding House
Party This Week

Among the numerous groups of Santa Anans who have taken advantage of the advent of "spring vacation" and Easter week for beach house parties is the Sigma Tau Psi sorority, whose members are now sojourning at Laguna Beach.

The young women are enjoying swimming, hiking, dancing and other diversions of the seaside to be found in "Our Village" where they have taken an attractive cottage.

In the group are Mrs. Francis Selway, Mrs. Lee McClellan, Mrs. Edmund V. Linsenbard, Mrs. Kenneth Conner, Mrs. Fred Gregory, Mrs. Herbert Hill, Miss Jean Rowland, Miss Lucy Holmes, Miss Alice Majors, Miss Virginia Berry, Miss Jean Peacock, Miss Anna Turner, Miss Anna Reeves, Miss Doris Goff, Miss Betty Rowland, Miss Carol House, Miss Dorothy Easterbrook, and Miss Emalina Richards.

YOU and your Friends

Miss Florence Barclay, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Barclay, 3508 Valencia street, and Miss Mary and Miss Marian Bruner, daughter of Mrs. Mary P. Bruner, of 537 South Birch street, who have been visiting their parents in Santa Ana during the Easter vacation, returned this morning to Pomona College.

Andrew S. Wilson, of Escondido, passed through Santa Ana yesterday on a return trip to his ranch after taking Mrs. Wilson and her daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth, to visit relatives this week at Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Ball and daughters, Miss Winifred and Miss Maybelle, motored to Claremont last evening with Miss Josephine Ball, another daughter who is a student at Pomona college and who spent last week with her parents and sisters in Santa Ana.

Theodore Schulte, of Pasadena, was a visitor Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Levi P. Hendrickson and Miss Esther V. Hendrickson, at 623 French street.

Miss Louise Van Dien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Van Dien of 2402 Bonnie Brae, and Miss Frances Schweitzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Schweitzer, of 1024 Kullson Drive, who have been spending the Easter vacation week at the home of their parents in this city, returned to Pomona college where they are registered students early this morning.

Miss Florence Warner and Craig Warner, daughter and son of Dr.

Community Players to Combine Meeting
Dates

Since the April meeting of the Community Players in The Barn, conflicted with the dates of the final dramatic performance of the 1929-30 season, "The Devil's Disciple," and the May meeting will coincide in date with the annual spring tournament of One-Act Plays, it has been decided to combine the two months informal programs in one, according to Gladys Simpson Shafer, Barn chairman, and hold the meeting on Thursday night, April 24.

This month's postponed meeting had been announced for Thursday night of this week, but difficulty in arranging a program, the contemplated absence of many members from the city because of the annual spring school vacation, and the closeness of the tournament dates combined to make it advisable to postpone the program yet another week, and bring the two monthly meetings into one.

It is expected that interesting entertainment features will be introduced, and also there will be plans presented for the entertainment of the guests to be in attendance at the tournament May 1, 2 and 3. The latter will be presented in the Temple theater instead of in the high school auditorium as has been the case in previous tournament events.

Canadian Guests Are Honored at Picnic

Complimenting several Canadian visitors in the Southland, Mrs. Anna Allen, of 116 South Broadway, entertained Saturday at a delightful informal picnic given in Bixby park, Long Beach, with 24 guests enjoying her hospitality.

Those especially complimented were Mrs. W. B. Burgoyne and her niece, Miss Whitelock, and Mr. and Mrs. Wray, all of St. Catharines, Can., and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Davidson and daughter, of Hamilton, Can.

Luncheon served at 1 o'clock, was a delightful interval with a variety of appetizing dishes, and was followed by an afternoon of games, reminiscences of former associations in the province, and in taking pictures as mementoes of the reunion.

George A. Warner, 613 Spurgeon street, left Saturday evening to spend several days visiting an uncle and aunt, Judge and Mrs. Ben Warner, of Ontario.

Miss Rowena Newcomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Newcomb, of 611 South Main street, and Miss Justina Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horton Palmer, of 426 South Sycamore street, who have been spending the past week with their parents in this city, returned to their studies at Whittier college yesterday.

Mrs. Kate Whittington and Mrs. Anna Miller of Seattle, were guests last week at the home of Mrs. H. C. Curry, of 1072 West Fourth street.

Mrs. Whittington is past president of the Washington state and Alaskan Woman's Relief Corps. She was guest Wednesday at Sedgwick W. R. C. meeting, and highly complimented the work of local officers.

Miss Dorothy E. Dungan, daughter of S. M. Dungan, of 221 South Broadway, who spent last week at her home in Santa Ana, left yesterday to resume her studies at Pomona college.

Among the Santa Ana women who attended the mid-year branch and quarterly meeting of the W. H. M. S. at the Hollington Avenue church, Pasadena, last week, were Mrs. W. J. Saunby and sister, Mrs. P. L. Etchison, Miss Brownell, Mrs. E. D. Van Nest, Mrs. Mary I. Avery, Mrs. Horton Palmer and Mrs. D. J. Palmer, all of whom are members of the First Methodist church of this city.

The Rev. Wilfrid Charles Parham, of 1030 South Main street, who has been assisting in the reorganization of the Four-square Gospel tabernacle at Pomona, attended an official board meeting at the local lighthouse last evening.

His wife, Evangelist Alice Wilson Parham, presided at the meeting here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lars Hanson of 410 South Sycamore street, spent yesterday at Catalina Island.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Yelding and daughter, Sylvia, 409 South Sycamore street, spent yesterday in Los Angeles, Miss Sylvia remaining to spend the vacation week with her grandmother, Mrs. Hoffman, of that city.

Word has been received at the Westgate Steamship company that Mr. and Mrs. Felton Browning of Tustin, who for the past month have been enjoying a Spanish American tour of Guatemala, San Salvador, Panama and Havana, docked in New York this week, and will probably arrive in Santa Ana late next week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Morrison, who have been spending the past year in Santa Ana, will leave tomorrow for their home in El Reno, Okla.

Attorney and Mrs. T. G. Akers, of Oakland, and son, Joseph Akers, a practicing attorney of Los Angeles, and daughter, Miss Tonia Akers, were week-end guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Dana at 1702 North Broadway and of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Peterson of 2415 Heliotrope Drive.

GOLDEN WEDDING IS OBSERVED AT CAPISTRANO BEACH CLUB

Their fifty years of travels together through many cities and states, through sun-kissed valleys and across storm-swept plains, have terminated for Mr. and Mrs. William E. Baker in peaceful days by the wave-washed shores of the Pacific, in the little town of Serra nestled below the historic walls of San Juan Capistrano.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker were wed a half century ago in Piper City, Ill., on April 7, 1880. The wedding took place in the home of the bride's parents and the Rev. Bogas read the service. Mrs. Baker before her marriage was Miss Estella Boal. For her wedding gown she had chosen a rich silk in the shade then known as "dregs of wine." The gown was trimmed with deep silk fringe in the same shade.

Golden Motif
vestibuled trains were a matter of course.

Through Flood
While living in Galveston, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Baker lost all of their possessions in the tidal wave which swept that city Sept. 8, 1900. The Bakers, who were living but 30 feet from the seashore, were marooned in an apartment house, in the only room left in the structure, which was three stories high and which had 87 rooms. They placed an ironing board from their adjoining apartment to this building and walked across on it, taking a cripplingly in a wheeled chair with them. Of the 60 people in the building only the 22 in this room were saved.

The only thing which belonged to them which the Bakers found to be their daughter's doll bed with a silk canopy which, oddly enough, was not torn. Mr. and Mrs. Baker and those with them, were blackened and bruised where the waves struck them in the building, the windows and doors having been broken by the force of the water.

One woman in the group had a six-weeks-old baby and she stood with the others in water to her armpits for nearly 12 hours. Mr. Baker relates. She afterward became insane from her experience. The members of the group were the only persons left living outside the great wall of debris which surrounded the city when the wave went out.

Mang Guests
One of the wedding gifts received by the Bakers 50 years ago was used in serving the anniversary dinner. It was a large crystal plate which Mrs. Humel had kept for them.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Barrett of Los Angeles, who recently celebrated their fifty-sixth anniversary; Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry of Santa Ana, who recently celebrated their fifty-fourth anniversary; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick of Collins, Wash.; Miss Margaret M. Connaughey; F. H. Busse of Los Angeles; M. C. Stevens of Collins, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kirkpatrick of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Powers of Capistrano Beach; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Obermole of Beaumont; Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Clark and Miss Mary E. Clark of San Bernardino; Edna Ruble, Mrs. S. H. Bakis, Alice G. Fish and Mrs. Alice Harper of Pasadena; Leora Whitehouse of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Nise, Dr. and Mrs. Paul H. Esslinger, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. F. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Bust Oistot, J. S. Mallin, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McHenry, all of San Juan Capistrano; Mabel I. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. F. Willy of Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Baker of San Clemente; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Baker of Balboa; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wade of Azusa; Roy Hummel of Azusa; Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Richardson of Glendora; Mr. and Mrs. Isadore H. Miller of Claremont; Mr. and Mrs. Sydney B. Brown of Alhambra; Gerald Brown and Benjamin Brown of Alhambra; Mrs. A. Hummel and H. Hummel of Azusa; Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Berner of Azusa; Mr. and Mrs. John Landell and Miss Gladys Landell of Capistrano Beach; Mr. and Mrs. L. Purdy of Capistrano Beach; Elaine Vincent Henderson of Los Angeles; Marion Louise Vincent of Los Angeles; Mildred C. Vincent and Mr. and Mrs. K. Hydel of Los Angeles; Loloh Stewart, William Stewart and Barbara Stewart of Hollywood; Maude Purcell of Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Morgan of San Juan Capistrano; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stuart of San Juan Capistrano; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Switzer of Beaumont; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Shields of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Sprague and Ray Sprague of Santa Ana; E. L. Jackson of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard O. Hoke of Los Angeles; Miss Berthe E. Baker of Capistrano Beach; Edythe McCaughey of Los Angeles; S. H. Baker and Mark W. Baker of Los Angeles.

Lovely Gifts
The hosts were presented with many handsome gifts which included gold teaspoons, gold enameled china and crystalware, table linens with gold borders and table runners and napkins designed and woven for the occasion. The latter gift was presented by Mrs. Beatrice Plummer of Los Angeles, an importer and designer of linens, who had the set made in China.

The reception room of the clubhouse was decorated with spring flowers in pastel tints. Miss Bertha Baker, only child of the hosts, assisted in receiving guests. Mrs. Baker was becomingly gowned in black georgette with an attractive arranged corsage of orange blossoms.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker have been residents of Serra for the past 14 years where Mr. Baker has been employed in the Santa Fe station as telegraph operator, having been with that company for 30 years. Because he has been employed in various departments of a number of railroads since he was a mere lad, Mr. Baker has taken his family to live in many cities of the United States.

From wooden car to steel coach, from a crude wood-burning engine to the great oil-burning locomotives of today, Mr. Baker has watched the railways develop and extend their lines from north to south and through trackless wildernesses from the east to the west. He remembers the epoch-making time when air-brakes were introduced and the precarious days when passengers stepped from coach to coach over platforms coupled together, before

Pretty Easter Party
Enjoyed by Group
Of Schoolgirls

All the happiness of the Easter season seemed expressed in a merry party given Saturday afternoon by Mary Elizabeth Carey, in her home at 1732 West First street, with Gladys and Ophelia Edwards as hostesses with her in greeting their young friends.

Easter lilies and other spring-time flowers used in decorating, were second in interest to the cunning Easter bunnies and chickens. Mrs. George W. Carey assisted her daughter and her friends in having a happy time, and had secreted gaily colored eggs in all manner of clever hiding places to be sought in a lively Easter egg hunt. In this, Mildred Shields was the most successful, with Abida Franklin, second, and Elinor Straub, third. Each was rewarded with an appropriate gift.

A peanut hunt provided another exciting contest in which Esther Graves won the prize. The remainder of the afternoon was given over to various merry games leading up to the refreshment hour.

In serving the dainties, Mrs. Carey had the assistance of her mother, and Mary Elizabeth's grandmother, Mrs. M. E. McKee.

Sharing the afternoon's pleasures with the Misses Mary Elizabeth Carey and Gladys and Ophelia Edwards, were the Misses Elinor Straub, Grace Stevens, Esther Graves, Mary Naomi McKee, Helen Deshazo, Hazel Deshazo, Mildred Shields, Fay Shields, Eva Winklerpleck, Martha Jane McKee and Abida Franklin, and Master Bill McKee.

Wakeful Nights
From Indigestion

Nothing wears you out more quickly than a period of wakeful, restless nights or fitful slumber marked by unpleasant dreams. The cause is often digestive disturbance and the remedy is a little "Bisurated" Magnesia after the last meal or before going to bed. This calms the stomach, neutralizes excess acid, banishes the fermenting unrest and induces healthy, restful slumber by the sensible means of producing peaceful, normal digestion. "Bisurated" Magnesia is obtainable at any good drug store in either powder or tablet form and a simple trial will prove its value beyond question.

Ramblers Club Enjoys
Meeting at Atkinson
Home Saturday

The Ramblers' club held their regular meeting Saturday evening at the home of Miss Ada Atkinson, 156 South Clark street, Orange.

Entertainment for the evening was spent in dancing in Balboa at the Rendezvous.

After dancing, the members in attendance returned to the hostess' home where refreshments were served.

In a contest, first prizes went to Howard Wagner and Norris Mackell and Miss Dorothy Felhman won a consolation award.

Guests in attendance included Mr. and Mrs. Donald Felhman, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Mackell, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wagner, Miss Elsie Graves, Miss Ada Atkinson, hostess; Lynn Hafer, Jack Gish, Mr. and Mrs. John Holb, Miss Grace Gettle and Earl Anderson.

Jolly Eight Club
Observes Birthday

The birthday anniversary of Erroll Barnes was celebrated yesterday with an attractively appointed luncheon at his home, 1114 South Birch street. Pink and blue were the colors chosen for the affair and table decorations carried out the pastel motif. Quantities of sweet peas were used in artistic bouquets about the rooms and the elaborately decorated birthday cake boasted candles in pink and blue hues.

Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon and members of the Jolly Eight club who received prizes were Mrs. Grace Snider of Brea, and Bingham Watson, high scores, with Mrs. Dell Johnson, low.

Members present were Mr. and Mrs. Bingham Watson and son, Mr. and Mrs. Dell Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Erroll Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. G. Snider and son.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Dorcas Society
A program of special music was featured at the regular meeting of the Dorcas society of the First Methodist church late last week in the social hall. Mrs. Charles N. Grace concluded the impressive devotional service, which had been conducted by Dr. George A. Warner, pastor, with the solo, "The Old Rugged Cross."

Following the brief business meeting, the boy's chorus of Jefferson school, under the direction of Miss Helen Glancy, sang "Sailing" and "Nancy Lee."

Mrs. John Clarkson gave a short talk on the subject, "The Voice of Childhood." She emphasized the need of early training in the art of speech and explained how the home and school are habit forming influences on a child's speech.

A committee composed of Mrs. R. I. Matthews, Mrs. W. F. Kistinger, Mrs. R. Gregg and Mrs. S. S. Vogt, acting hostesses, served a buffet luncheon during the social hour which concluded the meeting.

U. D. C. Chapter

Mrs. J. William Taylor, sr., opened her attractive home at 418 West Santa Clara avenue, to members of Emma A. Sanson chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, when they met at the end of last week with Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. M. E. Head and Miss Percie Head as joint hostesses.

Several guests were entertained, including Mrs. Charles Sims of J. E. B. Stewart chapter, Riverside; Mrs. Hattie E. McCormick, of the Joseph Le Contt chapter of Berkeley; Mrs. Harrison, of this city; Mrs. Rosa Rogers, of Pasadena, a sister of Mrs. Isabel Tucker, and a former Santa Ana resident; Mrs. Grafton, of Tustin, and J. C. Joplin, a former Confederate veteran.

Mr. Joplin made the chapter a gift of two Confederate bills, one for $20, and the other for $500. Both were issued by the bank of his former home, Richmond, Va., and bear the signature of his cousin by the same name, J. C. Joplin.

Among the business matters of interest, was the purchase of a brick in the birthplace of General Robert E. Lee, Stratford, Westmoreland county, Va., in accordance with a plan whereby the Daughters are securing this historic house and its 1104 acres of land, for the sum of $240,000. It will be made a national memorial for General Lee.

Following the business meeting, the Daughters and their guests enjoyed the dainty refreshments served by the hostesses to the accompaniment of the lovely flowers brightening the home.

Spring Draperies

These lovely sunny Spring days are apt to make the colorful but heavy winter draperies look stodgy and warm. Why not take them down, put them on the line to dust out and air, then put them away until next fall and their kind of weather?

Of course you can't leave windows bare, neither are you apt to want to spend any considerable amount on new curtains. Let me tell you about two different exposures and types of rooms I saw yesterday and how they were curtained.

The first was a large living room facing directly east, with a hill behind the house and many trees around it—so you see, little sun except in the early morning got to this room, and it had to depend on curtains and old mahogany furniture for its livable qualities. The theatrical gauze—that linen-thread cheese cloth—was used.

The color was a warm rose-blossom, the curtains were made full enough to draw nicely over the windows with traverse cords, and the length was just below the window. A two-inch hem was laid and held in place with self-colored heavy wool put in with a running stitch. They were lovely and added distinction to the whole room.

The other room faced east and south, so that it got morning and some afternoon sun. The woodwork was a warm ivory, the floor dark, the furniture non-descript mahogany, tapestry-covered, and wicker, the curtains again of the theatrical gauze in two shades: 38-inch gauze in natural and jade-blue were flat seamed before the hem was laid, and hung on poles which were as dark as the floor. The effect was that of coolness and bringing the leafy greenness of lawn and trees into a room that was otherwise commonplace. Oh, yes, the natural shade was next to the side of the window, the lovely bluish-green against the glass and light.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Cauliflower Patties
1 medium sized cauliflower
2 eggs, hard cooked
1 1/2 cups soft breadcrumbs
1 spoonful grated onion
1 tablespoonful minced parsley
Salt and pepper
Boil the cauliflower in salted water until tender, drain and mash fine. Mix with the soft breadcrumbs, grated onion, parsley, salt and pepper. If it seems a little stiff a very small amount of cream can be used to make it pliable. Add the cold cooked eggs, minced fine, pack the mixture into a bowl and set away until ready to give the finishing touches.

At dinner time put to heat sufficient vegetable fat to deep fry the patties. Take small quantities of the mixture, form into pats dip in egg mixed with cream, then in cracker crumbs.

Constipated
Instead of habit-forming pills or strong, irritating purgatives take—NATURE'S REMEDY—NR—the safe, dependable, all-vegetable laxative. Mild, gentle, pleasant—28¢ to-night—tomorrow alright. Get a 25¢ box. The All-Vegetable Laxative

Society Climbers Pave a Way to Inner Circle

(The sixth of a series of articles by Margaretta Roberts who has been social secretary in the homes of some of the country's wealthiest families.)

But despite the amount of money that the California man spent he never made any real impression on society. Perhaps he never wanted to. His entertainments were just a trifle too picturesque, his expenditures too spectacular.

In many ways the man climber has a better chance than his wife. He has wider initial contacts. Business affiliations, a few good clubs frequently bring him into contact with the sort of men who can make or break his social career. If such a man also happens to have a wife who is charming and helpful and sufficiently self-effacing he may manage to land both of them in society on the mere strength of his wealth and business prestige.

Social prominence has a high commercial value and is, therefore, greatly sought after by the successful business man of today. It sells stocks and bonds, manipulates big deals, commands positions on important boards, and is the icing on the cake generally. Some of the best social climbers I know are men. They are good speakers, and magnificent and lavishly entertainers.

Another unusual figure in society, whom I remember very well, was a wealthy Newport man. He was and still is very much on the inside of the Newport circle. He had several eccentricities which endeared him to his set of friends, where he was considered something of a humorist. Whenever this man was invited out to dinner he went accompanied by his staid and dignified valet who carried a large bundle under his arm.

This bundle contained the gentleman's liquor for the evening. And no matter how many drinks were offered him, he refused them, and was served from his own private stock. He explained that he "didn't trust anybody's liquor these days," and this remark was always greeted by shouts of laughter.

Fraternal Brotherhood

With the Junior lodge of Fraternity meeting Friday evening at 5:30 o'clock and the senior lodge meeting at 7:30 o'clock the day was a busy and interesting one. At the Junior lodge four new members were initiated, Maxine Ogden, Nadine Ogden, Bill L. Estes and Leroy Levens. The youngsters planned a picnic for April 26, at Irvine park.

Plans were also made to buy vegetable bowls to send the Orange County Health camp, one of the many kindly acts of this group of young people. At the conclusion of their business meeting, the Juniors

DOUBLE FEATURE BILL AT WALKER

Walker's State theater is offering a double bill tonight, Wednesday and Thursday.

"Murder on the Roof," the Columbia all-talking mystery drama, is superb entertainment. Based on a logical, well developed mystery story, it has been transferred to the screen with consummate skill. From its initial situation, in which Larkin, a denizen of the New York underworld, is mysteriously murdered in the penthouse back of Corsair's Night club, to the final denouement, there is not a pause in the dramatic intensity, and William Haines, the screen's popular wise cracker, in "Speedway," steps on the gas and roars to victory in love if not on the race track.

The highlights of the production are the jamming of Indianapolis traffic by Haines and Dane when they tow a racing car through the streets in the hilarious opening of the picture; the sensational "tuning up" and practice run scenes, the rapid-fire changing of tires at the pits, the airplane thrill and parachute jump, and finally the big race itself, with its sensational upsets.

The opium poppy first became known among the Greeks and the Romans.

enjoyed refreshments served by Mrs. Vera Comer, Mrs. Charlotte Lord and Mrs. Nellie Trickey.

At the meeting of the senior lodge conducted by the president, George Furtach, the drill team put on an exhibition drill which excited much favorable comment. The membership contest was launched, with Edward Smith and George Randall as captains, but interest in this feature and other lodge matters was secondary to that in the recent marriage of two members, Flora M. Hoots and William Hutchison, who were accorded the friendly wishes of everyone present.

A clever program was presented by Julia Lathrop Junior high school students under the direction of Mrs. Maxine Zolman Bryte. After the appearance of "Old King Cole" and the "Melican Man," Ruth Warner gave a reading; Marian Doty played a piano solo; Alta Gregg gave a reading, and the program continued with a military tap dance by Phyllis Jensen, Lois Marie Pranke and Marguerite Barker; baritone horn solos by Marjorie Johnson with Mrs. Bryte at the piano; reading by Doris Bromaine; ukulele and guitar number by Margaret Barton, Mignonne Ogden and Yvonne Bruner; whistling solo by Eloise Bradley with Marian Doty as accompanist; vocal duet by Melva Thorpe and Dorothy Drew; violin solo by Nathalie Mustul with Virginia Mustul at the piano, and a Glee club number, "Banjo Song," directed by Mrs. Bryte and accompanied by Yvonne Bruner.

Dancing completed the evening with refreshments served by Mr. and Mrs. Calkins, Mr. and Mrs. Marsile, Mr. and Mrs. Crane and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Trickey.

WEST COAST FILM FEATURES MYSTERY

The murderer of Anthony Benson, wealthy stock broker, is the person least suspected of the crime in Paramount's all-talking picture, "The Benson Murder Case," now showing at the Fox-West Coast theater.

With William Powell, who recently has attained the reputation as the best detective on the screen, the picture, from the book by S. S. Van Dine, is probably the greatest thriller that he has written.

The number of suspects in this crime is smaller than in "The Canary Murder Case" and "The Greene Murder Case," which were seen recently with Powell in the role of the famous detective, Philo Vance, yet the audience is kept baffled as to the solution of the crime until Vance gets ready to point out the murderer.

Anthony Benson is shot through the heart while E. H. Calvert, district attorney, William Powell, and a master crook of the underworld are seated in the living room of the Benson summer lodge in the mountains. The body rolls from the second floor down the steps to their feet. At the time there are three other persons upstairs.

How Powell unravels the mystery in the last few feet of the crime makes the picture as mysterious as any seen here recently, while shots that come throughout the film add spice to it all along.

"Fifty Million Husbands," with Charlie Chase, an all-talking comedy, a Pathe audio review and a Fox Movietone newsreel also are shown.

Hecolite Plates

All over America Dentists report a growing demand for Hecolite Dentures. Last year, it is estimated, $1,000,000 was spent for Hecolite Plates, which unmistakably shows Hecolite is fast replacing all other material for modern dentures.

Hecolite, non-breakable, is thinner, lighter, and more nearly approaches the appearance of natural gums.

TESTIMONY OF CHARLES CARRILLO IN LIBEL CASE AGAINST S. A. REGISTER

have that stand as the only publication.

MENTON—The entire publication is introduced in evidence. JUDGE—In view of the entire publication being presented in evidence I would have to hold your examination to that publication rather than to the allegation contained in these lines 16-23 inclusive on page 6 of your complaint.

MENTON—Did you have an opportunity before the board, Mr. Carrillo, to go over this entire matter and present your evidence and—

CLARK—I object to this as it is immaterial, irrelevant and incompetent. (Sustained.)

MENTON—Well, if they are to assume that because of the fact that it was not denied that they are privileged to publish these facts as they are, they are not to be held responsible to present evidence contradicting them by reason of the fact, I think we should be permitted to show that fact.

JUDGE—I cannot see how this can become pertinent to this particular cause of action. The only thing that this article tends to do is to report what took place before the board of supervisors and their so-called investigation or hearing or whatever term you desire to use and if that it not correctly stated there might be libel. If it is correctly stated there can be no libel. If I am wrong do not hesitate to tell me your viewpoint of it.

9:30 A. M., TUESDAY, APRIL 15, 1930

MENTON—I was interrogating you yesterday afternoon relative to a telephone conversation with the defendant, J. Frank Burke, I understand that you wish to make a statement in your testimony. Did you understand to whom I referred or to which call I referred to when I asked you if you knew who answered the phone?

CARRILLO—No, I did not. I started to explain.

MENTON—Which one did you refer to when you made that answer?

CARRILLO—To the first party who answered the phone before Mr. Burke.

MENTON—Someone answered the phone?

CARRILLO—I asked for Mr. Burke.

MENTON—Then someone else answered?

CLARK—OBJECTION.

COURT—Sustained.

COURT—Did you ever converse with J. Frank Burke prior to that purported telephone conversation?

CLARK—I objected only because he said that he hadn't talked to Carrillo or not, but that he would as soon as Mr. Burke arrived. Then he had a few words with W. Maxwell Burke, and told the court that his associate had said that J. Frank Burke had told him that he did not remember whether he had a telephone conversation with Carrillo or not.

MENTON—We will pass that. Now, when you were first employed as interpreter of this county was there any written agreement with the board of supervisors as to your employment or the nature of your duties?

CARRILLO—No, sir.

MENTON—I will ask you to tell the court what your duties consisted of.

CLARK—OBJECTION.

COURT—What is your purpose, Mr. Menton?

MENTON—The purpose is to show for what purpose the plaintiff was employed as interpreter, what duties he was required to perform for which he received compensation from the county.

COURT—Referred to previous testimony which brought out the answer to Menton's question.

CLARK—

MENTON—

COURT—Explain more fully. Objection overruled.

CARRILLO—To interpret in criminal cases in court and assist the district attorney and sometimes the sheriff's office pertaining to criminal cases.

COURT—That is when you were first employed?

CARRILLO—First on fee—so much per case.

COURT—At that particular time were you to help the district attorney and the sheriff?

CARRILLO—There was nothing said about it although I helped.

COURT—to change from fee system to salary basis?

CARRILLO—Yes.

COURT—When did you change to the salary basis?

CARRILLO—1919, to the best of my recollection.

COURT—At what salary?

CARRILLO—$125.

COURT—Has that been increased since?

CARRILLO—Yes.

COURT—When was it changed?

MENTON—Several years afterwards.

COURT—What was the change to?

CARRILLO—$175.

COURT—How long have you been on $175.00?

CARRILLO—About 5 years.

COURT—Are you on that now?

CARRILLO—Not now.

COURT—You were at the time these articles were published in the newspaper?

CARRILLO—No. I think it changed August 14th.

COURT—Of last year, 1929?

CARRILLO—Yes.

COURT—What are you now receiving?

CARRILLO—Working on per diem. In other words, on fee basis.

MENTON—That was by reason of the change in the law, your Honor.

COURT—Now then, in 1919, or until the change last August to the per diem basis, what were your duties?

CLARK—RESERVE OBJECTION. Upon the ground that it is incompetent, an opinion and conclusion of the witness to a matter of law.

COURT—Do you desire the records of the Board of Supervisors brought in to show—

CLARK—

MENTON—That is just the point—there is absolutely no record of the Board of Supervisors to produce in that matter or we would have had it produced.

CLARK—

COURT—The Court will sustain the objection to the last question asked—

MENTON—Was there any change in your duties or the work required to be done after the increase in your salary from that which existed prior to the change in salary?

CLARK—OBJECTION.

COURT—Sustained.

MENTON—Before you were placed upon the salary of the county what work did you do—what duties did you discharge?

CARRILLO—Interpreter in Court.

MENTON—Interpreter in Court for what purpose?

CARRILLO—Criminal cases.

MENTON—After you were placed upon the salary were there any changes made in the duties you were to perform different—

CLARK—OBJECTION.

COURT—Sustained.

MENTON—Did you perform any different duties at work after the change in the method of compensation was made? Was your work any different afterwards than it was before?

CARRILLO—No, sir. The same line of work.

MENTON—Were there any certain hours—

CLARK—OBJECTION. My understanding is that Code fixes the hours of employment of public employees.

MENTON—The Code had no provision whatever, your Honor.

COURT—How would it be material in any event? The issue in this case is—1 or 10 hours.

MENTON—As a matter of law—not at all material.

COURT—The question insofar as alleged libel has nothing to do with the hours the man worked or didn't work—it is an attempted statement of certain things that he should or should not have done—

CLARK—it was the duty of the plaintiff to devote his time for 8 hours a day to the services of the County, it would be a fair comment upon his devoting part of that time to private enterprises, which same comment might not be fair if he was not under—

MENTON—Was the objection I made.

MENTON—Did you ever at any time sell, or attempt to sell, your influence or any influence with peace officers or courts of Orange County?

CARRILLO—No, sir.

MENTON—Did you, on the 3rd day of October, 1929, have a pad of drivers' licenses or drivers' permits in your possession?

CARRILLO—No, sir.

MENTON—Or did you at that time sell, or attempt to sell, any such drivers' permits on the 3rd day of October?

CARRILLO—No, sir.

MENTON—Now, Mr. Carrillo, when these articles complained of were published in the newspaper, what effect did it have upon you?

CARRILLO—It caused me great mental anguish, very nervous, could not sleep at night, humiliated me among my friends and acquaintances.

MENTON—Have you suffered any loss by reason of it—any damage?

CARRILLO—Just what do you mean?

MENTON—In a financial way, or suffered physical loss, any weight, anything of that character?

By the reason of your mental condition, by reason of the publication of these articles. Just describe what that was.

CARRILLO—Well, I imagine that my extra fees went to about $75 per month which I lost, I guess.

CLARK—OBJECTION. GUESSING INCOMPETENT.

COURT—Motion granted.

MENTON—Well, what is your judgment as to amount lost—?

CLARK—OBJECTION. INCOMPETENT. The judgment of the witness is not competent—

COURT—Sustained.

MENTON—How much weight did you lose?

CARRILLO—Well, at the time of the first publication came on I weighed about 170 pounds. A few weeks after that, very much to my surprise I weighed 153.

MENTON—Prior to the publication of these articles can you tell the Court—(Something about income other than salary).

CLARK—OBJECTION.

COURT—Objection overruled. Read the question.

CARRILLO—From private parties that asked for my assistance in writing letters and in preparing documents for them, assisting them in their own personal affairs and assisting the traffic department, in helping out the people in the traffic department that came in—

MENTON—What was the amount?

CLARK—OBJECTION. Incompetent.

COURT—Overruled.

CARRILLO—$75.00 to $85.00 per month.

MENTON—To what extent has that been damaged?

CLARK—OBJECTION. Incompetent and immaterial. No foundation laid, etc.

COURT—Overruled. Subject to motion to strike—no proper connection. Read question.

CARRILLO—Down to about $10.00 per month—or $15.

MENTON—Do you mean that is what you make now in addition?

CARRILLO—I have been, yes, more or less.

MENTON—Has this been occasioned by reason of the publication of these articles, the publicity given them?

CLARK—OBJECTION. Incompetent, calls for conclusion by witness.

COURT—Sustained.

MENTON—Were you present at the time of the hearing before the Board of Supervisors?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.

MENTON—On the manner in which your conduct was investigated?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.

MENTON—Did you hear the evidence presented at the hearing?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.

MENTON—You were present all of the time and heard all of the testimony?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.

MENTON—Did you hear the testimony of Loren Terran?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.

MENTON—With reference to your obtaining permission for him to visit his wife in jail?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.

MENTON—Did Terran make the statement in that hearing that you demanded and took a fee from him of $2.00 in order to obtain a permit for him to visit his wife in jail?

CARRILLO—I heard him make the statement.

(Some comment here I didn't get. Had Reporter read the question.)

MENTON—You can answer "yes" or "no."

CARRILLO—No, sir.

MENTON—Did you hear the testimony of Isabel Reyes with regard to an incident that occurred in Seal Beach. Did you hear that testimony?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.

MENTON—Did Mrs. Reyes at that time testify that you took her hand and forced her to sign a paper that she did not know the character of?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.

MENTON—Did you hear the testimony concerning the case of Odilon Rivera at that hearing?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.

MENTON—Did you hear anyone testify at that hearing that you received $50.00 from Odilon Rivera's brother or brother-in-law, which money was supposed to go to an attorney for his defense?

CARRILLO—Will you repeat that question?

COURT—Read it, Mr. Reporter. Question read by reporter.

CARRILLO—I did not.

MENTON—Did anyone at that hearing testify that you did not receive $50.00 or any other sum of money in connection with that case?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.

MENTON—Did you hear anyone at that hearing testify that you took $2 on a certain occasion for interpreting for the making of a marriage license application?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.

MENTON—Do you know who it was who testified to that fact?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.

MENTON—Who was that?

CARRILLO—Mr. Dowden.

MENTON—Now, if the Court please, at this time I would first ask counsel for defense if they would stipulate that this document of which you have a copy—

Considerable comment during which transcript of hearing before the Board of Supervisors was introduced into the records.

MENTON—... whole of the transcript may be required—

COURT—Transcript of hearing before the Board of Supervisors in the matter of the investigation by the Board of Supervisors into the conduct of Charles C. Carrillo as ... said board on the 26th and 27th of September, 1929.

COURT—Do you desire to accept Mr. Clark's stipulation that the entire transcript be introduced in evidence?

MENTON—Yes, your Honor.

CLARK—If we may reserve the right to call your Honor's attention to any specific portion—

COURT—AGREED TO THIS.

MENTON—In offering this I refer to the second, third and fourth causes of action. It has no relation to the first cause so far as I am able to see.

MENTON—Perhaps that statement is not entirely correct, but I mean this is offered so that the Court may determine whether or not those matters contained in the 2nd, 3rd and 4th causes of action were far and true reports of the hearing.

COURT—Mark this transcript No. 17 for identification. Or does counsel desire that it be marked as an exhibit and be part of the record?

CLARK—Suggest that as a matter of convenience, your Honor, as exhibit, and counsel has my assurance that—

MENTON—No objection.

COURT—Change that, Mark plaintiff's exhibit No. 17.

MENTON—I think that is all for the present.

CLARK—Mr. Carrillo, on this occasion that you had the conversation with Mr. Neff that you told us about, was anything said in that conversation by Mr. Neff to you or by you to Mr. Neff in regard to a grand jury investigation of the manner in which your duties were being conducted?

CARRILLO—No, sir.

CLARK—Was it stated by Mr. Neff to you or by you to Mr. Neff that a petition to have a grand jury investigation of your conduct as court interpreter was then being circulated?

CARRILLO—No, sir.

CLARK—Was anything said whatever in regard to the circulation of such a petition?

CARRILLO—No, sir.

CLARK—Will you start in now and tell us just as near as you can remember everything that was said in that conversation between you and Mr. Neff?

CARRILLO—Mr. Neff called me as I was either entering or coming out of my office. He asked me about the operators' licenses, if I charged anything for them. I said "yes."

"How much are you charging?" I said, $2.00 for instructing them and preparing them for the examination."

"and at that time he was—he was writing when I was telling him. I asked him what he was going to do. Said he was going to put a little write-up—I said, 'I don't think you ought to put it in until you let me explain' and he said 'Well, if you want to do that first I have nothing to do with it. It's news to me.' That's about all."

CLARK—Well, do you remember anything being said about $6,000?

CARRILLO—(hesitation) I don't recall.

CLARK—Did not Mr. Neff tell you there was a rumor that you had received $6,000 for issuing these temporary permits in the past six months.

CARRILLO—Not to my recollection.

CLARK—Did you say to him that you wished to explain to him?

CARRILLO—Did he tell him that it was your personal business how much you charged for issuing those permits?

CARRILLO—No, sir.

CLARK—Did you tell him that anything was your personal—

CARRILLO—Did not touch on that.

CLARK—Did you tell him—handled matters—

CARRILLO—No, sir.

CLARK—How you conducted the examination?

CARRILLO—I did not tell him any such thing.

CLARK—According to your recollection the subject of your personal business was not mentioned in that conversation?

CARRILLO—Only about what I was doing.

CLARK—Mr. Neff did not say that he intended writing any untrue account of the manner in which you were conducting the business, did he?

CARRILLO—Did not mention anything about that.

CLARK—Your relations with Mr. Neff had always been friendly?

CARRILLO—Yes, for the short time I knew him.

CLARK—In that conversation, did Mr. Neff ask you if you were conducting personal business in a county office?

CARRILLO—He might have, yes.

COURT—Did he or did he not?

CARRILLO—I don't recall.

CLARK—Did he ask you if you conducted personal business on time paid for by the county?

CARRILLO—I recall that there was something said about that, yes.

CLARK—Now, what did you say in regard to conducting personal business on time that was paid for by the county?

MENTON—OBJECTION—IMMATERIAL.

COURT—Overruled.

CARRILLO—He asked me about it and I responded to his question that I did as long as it did not conflict with my county work.

CLARK—Did you say in substance that it was true that you were conducting personal business on time that was paid for by the county but that someone had to help the Spanish-speaking people in obtaining their licenses and it had gradually drifted to you to do that?

CARRILLO—... in substance to that, but I don't believe that I told him I was conducting personal business there during the time that I was being paid by the county. Sometimes I did and sometimes I did not. I think that was the ... During office hours.

CLARK—Now it is true, isn't it ... that Mr. Neff did not mention Mr. Burke's name at all?

CARRILLO—Yes, sir.

CLARK—Isn't it a fact that what Mr. Neff said was that you would have to take it up with the desk?

CARRILLO—No, he said I would have to take it up with the editor.

COURT—Did he mention any name?

CARRILLO—Asked me to call Mr. Burke—he was the only one to see.

CLARK—I believe you stated that Mr. Dowden was standing close by while this conversation was taking place.

CARRILLO—I don't believe he was standing within hearing distance.

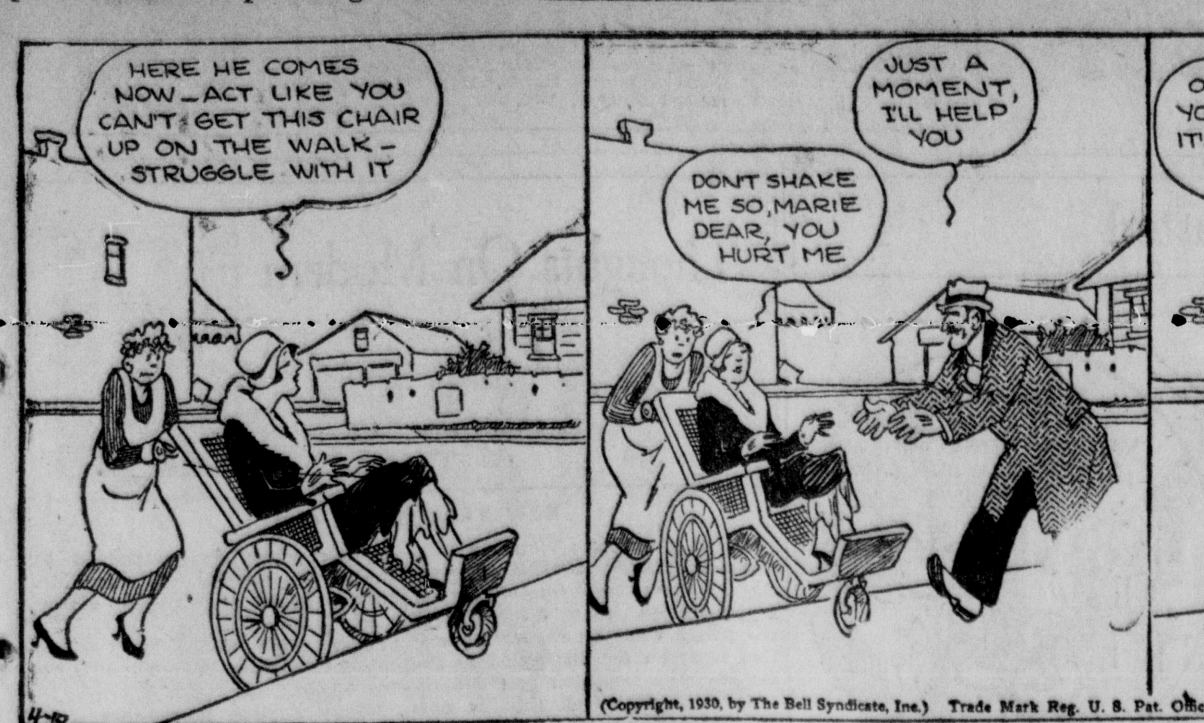

CLARK—Did that conversation occur in your office?

CARRILLO—No, sir.

CLARK—Where did that conversation occur?

CARRILLO—in the hallway.

ONCE UPON A TIME

Just a few years ago Orange County land was considered worth very little. Look at it today. What about tomorrow? This 4 1/2 acres is going to be worth more, because it is good land, its income was nearly $4000 last year. The location is excellent for citrus, the price is reasonable and some exchange is acceptable. With further data you'll be interested. No. 4117.

EVENING SALUTATION

"The inlet of a man's mind is what he learns; the outlet is what he accomplishes."
—Jeremiah W. Jenks.

"SACRED COWS"

A speaker, before a student body the other day deplored "sacred cows." Recalling the favorite cow of Ohio State University, which won the popularity contest one year at that institution, we read further to learn about the rest of these "sacred cows."

There was a deeper meaning to the term as used by this speaker. He defined "sacred cows" as things which cannot be criticized or talked about. Among such subjects, he listed athletics, the college or national administration, the R. O. T. C. and the fraternity and sorority situation. Such bans on opinion on various subjects is poor preparation for college men and women, who eventually will be called upon to think clearly on world affairs.

His words are wise. College people, of all people, are the ones whose minds should be free to face any subject. When, at the age that they are in college, they begin to close their minds to certain subjects as being too sacred to discuss they are being poorly prepared for future leadership.

It was just such a deliberate shunning of the unpleasant that brought Russia to the pass that it was in before the revolution, and necessitated the revolution, Countess Tolstoy, in her diary, in several places, speaks quite frankly of avoiding the coarse and unpleasant and not seeking out misery. At one place she says: "I have tried all my life to close my eyes to these things, and it makes me quite sick now to hear my daughter talk about (them)."

The conflict between superstition and knowledge is age old, and no one needs to be told in these days of anti-evolution laws and attempts to curb academic freedom in the interest of the existing order of things that the conflict has been fought out.

"The Un-understood," says Professor Giddings, in his little book, "The Mighty Medicine," is the barrier to progress. Our education is reminiscent of incantation and magic. The world has been arbitrarily divided into the sacred and the secular. The former is sacrosanct and must be handled only by the guardians of the temple. These guardians admit no rivals. Mystery-dispelling knowledge must not only be discouraged, but it must be opposed.

Over against this attitude comes the new liberal education with its relentless search for the facts and for truth, its experimental methods, its absence of fear before the spectres of the mind and the taboos of superstition. This liberal education would guard against those who want too much individual liberty, and who fail to realize the value of rule and order. But it would also guard against those who would standardize and compel, and who fail to realize the value of variation, of difference, of experiment, and of freedom. This high function of education might well receive consideration from all those who are charged with the tutelage of children and youth.

Sir Harry Segrave, holder of the world's automobile speed record, was arrested in London for driving over 45 miles an hour. It is safe to assume Sir Harry didn't say: "Why officer, I've never been over 35 in my life."

A PHONOGRAPH LIBRARY

In the New York Public Library there is an endowed phonograph booth where poor music students may hear classical records, not jazz. A person may use the room an hour, but not often than three days a week. The booth holds five chairs, and sometimes music classes use it. Appointments to use the booth must be made a week in advance, and for Saturdays eight weeks in advance, so popular is this opportunity of hearing classical music. The librarian in charge, says that Wagner, Beethoven, and Bach records are the most popular.

The idea of the library—music booth was Stokowski's. It was endowed by Clarence Mackay, Felix Warburg, Mrs. Otto Kahn and several others.

When one becomes discouraged about public taste it is good to remember the popularity of this opportunity to hear classical music. Of course, as Will Rogers emphasized the other night, New York is about ninety per cent foreign, but whatever they are, we are glad at any rate they are giving New York a good musical reputation.

The New Yorker tells us, in connection with this phonograph library booth, that a man one day called the library and asked the phonograph librarian the date of the birth of Bach. She replied at once that it was 1865. "Thank you so much," said the caller, "I have a friend whose telephone number is one less than the birth of Bach—and I forgot what it was."

PICKS UP A HOUSE

A man in Charlotte, N. C., has constructed for himself a three-room house from stray bricks which he picked up, here and there. Every time he saw a stray brick he picked it up. It took him eighteen months to get the ten thousand bricks which were used in the house. It is to be hoped that he will live in the house with easy conscience, that the bricks were all "pick ups." He found a lot of bricks. It is truly wonderful, though, what one can accumulate that others have let drop. In France, some of the housewives in the villages keep a pot of soup boiling all the time, into which they put whatever odds and ends of vegetables are left from a meal and its preparation—carrot tops, etc., and now and then if a huckster, passing by enroute to market, drops a turnip or leek, Madame is on the watch and rushes to get the dropped vegetable for her soup pot.

THE PASSING OF THE BURLESQUE

A report from New York notes the closing of the last burlesque theater in that city, and with it the information that burlesque entertainments now survive only in backward places which cannot yet realize that the time for the burlesque show is over. The exposure of female anatomy, a sort of protest against the prudery of the "gay 90's," has passed into the discard through the general acceptance of a more normal mode of attire on the part of the women of the 30's. The New York Times, of a few days ago, noted the suicide of a former burlesque actress. It appears that growing obesity had made her unacceptable to theater managers, and in her efforts to reduce she suffered a nervous breakdown. What was a physical asset in the "gay 90's" has become a physical liability today.

So do styles and tastes change from generation to generation. We cannot regret the passing of burlesque. It was indecently suggestive, vulgar, and had nothing in the way of art to commend it. It was a capitalization of the sensual alone. It represented the tastes and physical standards of the Hottentot. With it have gone the vulgar dances which had the flavor of the jungle and the primitive. All this change is to the good. But how strange it is that in days when the protest against the vulgarity of the theater was the strongest, the standards were the lowest. There are those who would say that this was the cause of the protest. As a matter of fact, it was an effect. "Call a dog by a bad name, and he will live up to it." That was the case with the theater of a generation or two generations ago. Now that places of amusement are being patronized by the better people of every community, there is a growing demand for clean shows. Some of the best shows on Broadway, New York, and receiving the largest patronage, are those which deal with high themes and present life at its best. Real humor is taking the place of vulgar jesting. The public is more discriminating. On the whole, we have reason to be encouraged when we note this change in the rise of the public taste and public moral demands.

When former Secretary of State Kellogg said "something will come out of the London conference," he probably had in mind another conference.

A PYTHON AT LARGE

A python has been missing from a concessionaire in Long Beach for several days. Could there be more unfavorable publicity for a city than that, except possibly that a maniac was at large? One would imagine that a python at large would make even the Chamber of Commerce Secretary visibly nervous.

Mud Is a Weapon Beneath the Dignity of Governorship Fight

San Francisco Chronicle

In a day of far hotter politics than ours two-fisted candidates for governor used to fight each other up and down the state with heavy blows and no quarter asked—but it was all fair and above board.

By contrast the present attempt of District Attorney Fitts of Los Angeles, to wade to the governorship through the mud and mire of the Julian case represents a considerably less glorious kind of political warfare.

There is a pretty strong impression abroad that Fitts' chief object in reopening the Julian case was a hope to find in it some slime to throw on his political opponents. I seem to be possible to find almost anything in that welter of knavery. But the man who is doing the digging has the best chance to avoid slime that might fall on his own friends and concentrate on that which might be used to smirch his foes.

If this was Fitts' object he has now just about gone the limit. We feel considerable nausea when he leads out into the limelight men who have either been convicted or are under indictment and has them broadcast charges which, after all, are their mere assertions. Whether true or not true the charges come from bad sources.

This, we submit, is not putting on a high plane a campaign for so exalted an office as the governorship of California. It would be out of place in any contest between gentlemen.

We are hopeful that Mr. Fitts will himself see this before it is too late. We trust that on sober second thought he will realize that he has overstepped the bounds in the zeal of his ambition to make himself Governor.

Mr. Fitts has been very well regarded by a large number of Californians. He was in a position to make a legitimate fight for the governorship. It would be a pity to see him lose this regard and lower his own standing as a fit candidate for such an office through an over-anxiety to promote ambition.

Mr. Fitts will do well to change his tactics and make his fight on his qualifications for the governorship and cease at once this attempt to use the powers of his office to spatter the campaign with mud.

If the Julian case needs further investigation let it be investigated—but with an eye solely to the public interest and not to make it a mere political mud pot.

Labrador Wakes Up

Oakland Tribune

Labrador, first land of North America to be discovered by Europeans, is the last to be explored. That it is soon to follow Alaska on the road to progressive development of her resources is the prediction of Sir Wilfred Grenfell, famous scientist and medical worker.

Dr. Grenfell says that frozen fish, newly discovered waterfalls, the most unsophisticated salmon and trout in the world, are factors which, with the radio and airplane, are tying Labrador to civilization. Labrador, he says, is the only place in the world which makes it possible to ship fresh fish thousands of miles, he pointed out. It was noticed while fishing through the Labrador ice on a very cold day that the fish, which froze instantly upon being taken from the water, began to flop about when taken into a warm room.

Experiments revealed that by quick freezing the flesh of fish could be kept much more firm and strong than by the older slow freezing method. Recently college boys from the United States discovered one of the finest water-power sites on the continent, a remarkable falls over which tremendous volumes of water rush to the sea. Grand Falls, in central Labrador, twice as high as Niagara, has a million horse-power waiting to be harnessed. Vast inland forests of virgin pine await the inevitable demand for civilization for their timber.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE GIRL AND THE TURK

The Turk has been making it warm, In these modern and virtuous days, For the people who would not reform But clung to the wicked old ways. He has outlived all clothes that are garish or gay, And punished the people who wear 'em; And even the richest, blue-blooded Bey Can have only one wife in his harem.

The opulent Pasha no more Eschews any form of hard work; The boss of a bank or a store Must labor as hard as his clerk. The people are sternly enjoined to forget The pride and the power of places, And every effort is put forth to set The land on a high, moral basis.

But the Turk goes a little too far In his arid devotion to duty When he futilely strives to debar The girls from enhancing their beauty. For, wherever these dear little creatures are found, Their wish to be fair and alluring, And to keep scores of dotting admirers around Has always been quite beyond curing.

The men in the Turkish domain For the orders will passively stand; They'll consent to be homely or plain With never an "if," "but" or "and." But the women, on learning that beauty is barred By the laws of the country, won't heed 'em; They will merely depart to the harem backyard And will powder and paint in full freedom.

The Platte School Of Oratory

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

"Come," shrilled the Communist, "let us shatter this sorry scheme of things to bits! Let us remould it nearer to the heart's desire. Let us—"

"All right," agreed the Industrialist, heartily. "Only let's do the remoulding part first. Except for shattering production records—I'm keen for that—I'd prefer to omit the shattering part of the program altogether. I never could figure out the sense of scrapping the best we have, until we've worked out something better. Let's go."

And "go" Industry did.

In the last few years, it has remoulded things nearer to the wage-earner's desire by breaking previous records for high wages. It has thus accomplished the result sought by the Communist, without resorting to his chaotic program.

By the orderly progress of industry in this country, the worker's real income, in the years between 1921 and 1929, has increased faster than ever before. The new book on "Real Wages" by Paul Douglas, proves that.

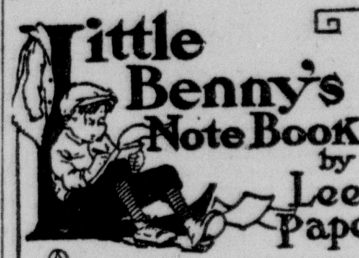

The poor are not getting poorer. On the contrary the poor—at least, all those with incomes under $5,000—are decreasing in number. They are not, however, dying of discouragement. They are graduating into higher income classes.

When these figures are digested, and their meaning fully understood, there will be a sharp decline in the demand for soap-box oratory.

Some years ago, admirers of a popular orator bestowed on their idol the florid title of "Boy Orator of the Platte." Whereupon an unappreciative senator observed that the Platte was "six inches deep, and six miles wide at the mouth."

Considering the wage increases of the last few years, Communist fulminations against Capitalism seem to belong to the Platte School of Oratory.

Me and Puds Simkins and Reddy Merfy was standing outside of the new candy store looking in the window at the different kinds and wishing we was inside having whatever we felt like, and some man stopped going pass and started to tawk to us, saying, Ah, the unequal distribution of wealth in the world. If all little children of your age would only wake to grate injustice of it, then, and only then, will rite prevail over mite, and the grate cause of socialism have a chance, because it is what we believe as children that guides us all through our life, therefore only the children can save us and I never miss an opportunity of speaking to them and showing them the lite, he sed.

Being a kind of a middle size man with his necktie on crooked, and he sed, Why should the little rich children be permitted to wawk into this store and buy candy to their hearts content while children like yourselves, who are every bit as good and perhaps even better, are forced to stand outside and look longingly? Why indeed? Because of the unequal distribution of wealth, that's the reason. There would be no rich and no poor if everybody had an equal share, and if you children insist on it, then the world will pay attention, because the children of today are the law-makers of tomorrow, he sed.

Us fellows, not saying anything, and then Reddy Merfy saying, Well G, mister, you got more money than we have, give us a dime and then we can get some candy, and then you wont have as much as you did, and we'll have more, just like you sed.

Sure, G, me and Puds sed, and the man sed, You're selfish little capitalists, that's all you are, just like the vast majority of people, and theres no use tawking to you theres no use tawking to anybody.

And he quick wawked away looking diskusted, and us fellows keep on standing there feeling the same.

Thoughts On Modern Life

NEW TABOOS FOR OLD

To the scared Victorian the name of Havelock Ellis suggests the wildness and wantonness of a generation that discusses in the parlor what an earlier generation reserved for discussion in the shame-faced seclusion of the barn.

Although Havelock Ellis is now an old man, he is still suspected by many moralists, who regard him as a man who counsels youth to throw restraint to the winds and live a life in which self-expression and self-indulgence are interchangeable terms.

But I would not ask a sounder moral guide for my own son.

Listen to a recent preaching by the bearded apostle of realism: "I not only have a firm faith in taboos," he says, "but I regard them as absolutely an indestructible element of life....Unthinking people sometimes talk as though taboos were effete relics of the past which it is in our power to cast away altogether, and our duty to do so. A very little reflection might show that we could not survive their loss."

The security of our property is possible only because enough people are restrained by the taboo against theft.

The sacredness of our personality is possible only because enough people are restrained by the varied taboos that enter into the manners and morals of the time.

Law alone would be a shaky protection were it not reinforced by taboos.

Many ancient taboos are obsolete and should be flouted.

We should greet with sympathy and serenity the effort of youth to junk the taboos that are outworn.

But youth needs to be reminded that even its freedom—the deeper freedom to grow in a realism of mind and morals—is dependent, not upon wiping out all taboos, but in exchanging new taboos for old.

"Life is always a discipline," says Ellis. "It is so dangerous that only by submitting to it can we become equipped to live in any true sense at all. The disappearance of the discipline of the old external taboos thus imposes upon us, inescapably, the creation of a new self-discipline of internal and personal taboos....That really is the task for all who are young today."

I am glad to have Havelock Ellis say that to my son.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

PREPARATIONS FOR SCHOOL

This is the time to get children to enter school next September. The warm spring days are usually the best ones for convalescence. All vaccinations, nose and throat operations, teeth extractions, cleanings and fillings can well be done now. The heat of summer is enough to bear without adding this sort of bother. Get ready early.

The vaccination for smallpox is usually demanded by all public schools. If it is insisted upon in your school, get the thing over with and have it off your mind. Put the certificate in a safe place so you will not have to search the house over to find it next fall.

Then there is the vaccination against diphtheria. I hope you have had that done for all little children under five years of age. The doctors assure us and back up their statements with convincing figures, that this vaccination against diphtheria works. Even if it promised an even chance of safety for the children, it would be worth doing. But it promises us much more than that.

Diphtheria is a very dangerous disease. If it attacks little children we have a hard battle to fight. If we can prevent its attacking the children by having them inoculated by the board of health physician or by our own special doctor, why not? We would do everything to save a sick child. Why not do the very simplest thing to prevent a perfectly healthy child from such a deadly illness? This is a good time.

Teeth ought to be cleaned and all cavities filled. If you have the sort of dentist that hates to handle little children, go to one that likes "ing it and have the teeth upon which so much depends, cleaned and straightened and filled whenever they need it. Don't let anybody tell you that first teeth do not matter, because they fall out anyway. They do matter. Health and beauty and efficiency depend upon clean, sound teeth. The baby teeth are the foundation teeth and they count, as any foundation counts.

If the child's speech is thick, if he gets a cold in the head easily, if he talks as though his nose were coked, have him examined by a nose and throat specialist. If the tonsils are healthy they do not come out. Healthy tonsils are an asset, but unhealthy ones are a threat. Adenoids come out. The child is not born with adenoids, they are acquired. They do not belong. Get them out. This clearing of nose and throat is important, because a stoppage in the nose reduces the air supply and the growth of the child depends upon that to a large degree. Diseased tonsils discharge unhealthy matter into the body and that, of course, is a detriment to the growth of any child. Clean teeth, clean nose, clean mouth and throat, mean a great deal to the healthy growth of a child. You do not need to be reminded of that. You know it to be true. This is the time to see the physician about it.

School is a new and trying experience for little children. They need to be perfectly fit when they take it on for the first time. It is unfair to send them to school with sore arms, within a few days of an operation. Get all that over with early in the year and have the fall free for school experiences—and health.

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

On April 15, 1861, three days after the Confederate attack on Fort Sumter, President Lincoln issued a call for 75,000 volunteers. "I appeal," wrote the president in his proclamation, "to all loyal citizens to favor, facilitate and aid this effort to maintain the honor, the integrity and the existence of our national union, and the perpetuity of popular government; and to redress wrongs already long enough endured."

The proclamation was sent the governors of all the states, but in seven, where insurrection prevailed, it was assailed with the bitterest scorn. A typical reply was that of Governor Harris of Tennessee, who wrote: "Tennessee will not furnish a single man for coercion, but $50,000 if necessary for the defense of our rights, or those of our southern brethren."

While the north responded with spirit to the call, popular excitement and enthusiasm in the south is said to have equaled that which marked the early stages of the French revolution, and more than 200,000 Confederate volunteers offered their services to Jefferson Davis.
